RISING FROM DARKNESS TO NEW GLORIES

San Francisco Emerges from Pall of Gloom With Bright Prospects.

NONE HUNGRY NOW

President's Red Cross and Chinese Statements Cause Temporary Ill-Feeling.

NO EPIDEMIC IS EXPECTED

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—This was the seventh day since the earthquake. Wednesday will dawn on a situation a long way towards the normal.

Such marts of trade as remain unburned were opened for the transaction of ordinary business, temporary structures were being run up for the accommodation of others, clearing of the devastated area of its ruins was well under way, the inquiry into the condition of the bank vaults was completed, the organization and preparation for service of the street railways were so far advanced that the company expressed its readiness to resume business as soon as the mayor would permit; the water company announced the completion of such repairs as enabled it to supply a total of 12,000,000 gallons daily. In fine, there was all the evidence that put at rest now and forever, the fears of those who predicted that San Francisco would never rise again.

President Caused Consternation.

The citizens of San Francisco had done so splendidly in the face of such an appalling catastrophe that some little consternation was created this morning. A proclamation by President Roosevelt was read, turning over to Dr. Edward Devine of the National Red Cross the management of relief measures and the distribution of the great funds so generously appropriated by congress. This feeling was also evinced because of the President's recommendations to the people of the United States that their contributions of food, supplies and money should be diverted into the same hands. If there was momentary feeling that the men who had endured the heat of the burden of the day were being unfairly treated by this diversion of authority into new and foreign keeping, it was soon dissipated by reflection. At a conference at Fort Mason, attended by Gens. Greely and Funston, Mayor Schmitz, Gov. Pardee, Dr. Devine and some others, it was agreed that this was the case and that Dr. Devine himself should frame a telegram to the President, informing him of the splendid work already done and of his perfect willingness to assist in forwarding the measures already taken.

Chinese Get Kind Treatment.

What hurt even more than this was the suggestion made in the letter from President Roosevelt to Secretary of War Taft that reports had reached him that less charity was being shown the Chinese who dwelt here than the whites, and directing that if this be true, the situation should be remedied at once. If the people of San Francisco are not in love with the Chinese it was felt that the name they have earned in the past for charity and open heartedness should have saved them from any reflection that they would have permitted any human being—white, black or yellow—within their reach, to suffer.

Mature reflection, however, brought the conviction that the truth had not reached the President, and a special message was sent him signed by the constituted authorities recounting the exact facts. The message was as follows:

Message to the President.

President Roosevelt, White House, Washington:

All reports that the people or the officials or the relief committees of San Francisco are making any distinction in relieving, succoring or protecting the Chinese or any other people differing in race or color, are totally false and entirely unfounded. The committees and even the homeless sufferers themselves are treating the Chinese and all other fellow unfortunates with the consideration worthy of our civilization and our country. The people of San Francisco are striving with all their heart to relieve their destitute, care for the sick, protect their helpless and uplift their stricken, irrespective of race, creed or color, in accordance with the dictates of humanity, in a manner worthy of Americans, and in the common brotherhood of man. Please give press.

(Signed) E. E. Schmitz, Mayor; W. W. Morrow, President Red Cross; F. J. Simms President Merchants' Association; J. D. Phelan, Treasurer Relief Committee; Rabbi Voorsanger, Committee on Hunger; Catherine C. Felton, Secretary Associated Charities; Fairfax H. Wheelan, Committee Sick and Helpless.

The work of housing and feeding the homeless and of reconstructing the sanitary conditions, already far advanced Monday, were carried on with tremendous energy. It is believed no one is hungry in San Francisco tonight, unless he is wilfully so. There is food for all, and the method of distribution has been so perfected that it is within reach of all. As for the health and sanitary conditions, there is, considering all circumstances, nothing to be desired. An investigation of the sewers has shown that they were not as badly damaged as was feared, and while there were breaks, they have been repaired. There has been no outbreak of disease of a contagious character, nor is any feared, and as for those pulmonary diseases that might be expected to be prevalent in such a crisis, they are chiefly notable by their absence. The hospitals, which in the few instances were crowded by great numbers, are discharging them by the score.

No Danger Now of Epidemic.

"Say to the people of California, of the United States and of the world, that there is no epidemic in San Francisco, and no danger of one. The sanitation of the city is absolutely under control," said

THE RELIEF FUND PASSES QUARTER MILLION MARK

Gazette Turns $7,410.55 Over to the General Treasurer John B. Jackson.

Greater Pittsburgh's contribution to the relief of San Francisco and the stricken communities of the Pacific coast has past a quarter million dollars and is well on the road toward the $300,000 mark. The many benefits planned for this week, including the monster matinee in the Nixon and special performance at the Grand opera house Friday indicate that this figure will soon be reached.

The Gazette yesterday turned over to John B. Jackson, treasurer of the Pittsburgh California Relief fund, $7,410.55, being the second installment of the contributions received by this paper, which now totals in excess of $13,000, all of which have been purely voluntary contributions. The Gazette will continue to receive, acknowledge and turn over to the general committee all contributions, this being in accord with a resolution passed at the public meeting at which the relief organization was formed, and which requested that the newspapers act as solicitors for the fund.

A touch of true sentiment found expression when the children of the Forbes school sent their contributions to the homeless school children of San Francisco through The Gazette office yesterday afternoon in the form of a large cigar box full of pennies, nickels, and silver which weighed 15 pounds. A rather pretentious roll of bills was also enclosed in the box, the sum total of which was $125.27.

MRS. GEO. SINGER, JR., TELLS OF EXPERIENCES

Pittsburgh Woman Says Women Were More Collected Than Men During Disaster.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

DENVER, COL., April 24.—Mrs. George Singer, Jr., of Pittsburgh, who passed through the 'Frisco earthquake and is here today said:

"The nerve and courage that the women in San Francisco showed during the excitement following the earthquake is almost inconceivable. When the shock awoke us my daughter and I arose calmly and dressed. We went into the hall and down the stairs. We took our money and tickets from the clerk and then we grew afraid to go back. We waited all day for relief of some kind and as night crept on the management of the hotel informed us that we had better leave.

"Each guest was given a blanket and out into the dark street we went, unable to see our hands in front of us. All night long my daughter and I walked the streets not knowing which way we went, and toward daylight we made our way to the ferry depot and got across to Oakland. It was easy after that. We got to Salt Lake and bought some clothes and now we are off for Pittsburgh.

"We lost four trunks in the fire. All our jewelry and the furs for which we found no need in San Francisco were lost in the flames. We saw no shooting on the part of soldiers, and in fact shut our eyes to the grewsome sights we have since heard narrated. I really believe that in the heat of the excitement the women were more collected than the men."

With Mrs. Singer is her daughter, Miss Louise Singer.

ITALIANS KILL A LONELY RIDER ON HIGHWAY

Contractor Is Shot from Horse and Assassins Literally Cut Him to Pieces With Dirks.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

BLUEFIELD, W. VA., April 24.—J. H. Fitzgerald, of the railroad contracting firm of Fitzgerald & Miller, was murdered 30 miles east of here this afternoon by Italian laborers. Fitzgerald had the contract for grading 10 miles of the new Deepwater Railroad and his laborers have been chiefly Italians. Yesterday he discharged several and this afternoon he discharged half a dozen more.

The Italians who were discharged threatened revenge and at 11 o'clock, as Fitzgerald was riding along the line of his work, he was fired on. He was struck by three bullets and fell from his horse. Several Italians rushed up, and, it is said, began plunging knives and dirks into the already dying man. After assuring themselves the man was dead the murderers fled to the woodlands nearby.

Officers were notified and a possee went in pursuit. This afternoon two Italians were taken into custody but it is not believed the right men have been captured.

Fitzgerald was one of the best known railroad contractors in the country. He was 50 years of age and for a quarter of a century had been engaged in railroad work. His home was in Huntington.

TRANSFORMS VESUVIUS.

All Physical Characteristics of the Destructive Vocano Are Changed by Eruption.

NAPLES, April 24.—Prof. Matteucci, director of the Royal observatory, today succeeded in reaching the crater of Vesuvius. He describes the spectacle there as one of great grandeur. The diamter of the crater, which before the eruption was about 100 feet, is now about 5,000 feet. There is no eruption of incandescent stones as before the recent outburst, but a small quantity of ashes is being ejected.

Vesuvius seems to be assuming the character of a dead volcano. The cone of the crater, which before the eruption rose to a height of 6,000 feet above sea level, has diminished about 500 feet. Work is being vigorously pushed to re-establish the funicular railway to the observatory.

ARTIST SUES MRS. GOULD.

Wife of New York Millionaire Refuses to Accept Picture She Claims Does Not Look Like Her.

NEW YORK, April 24.—(Special.)—Mrs. Howard Gould is defendant in a suit for $5,000 brought in the supreme court, today, by Henry Thaddeus, a portrait painter of Wales, on the ground Mrs. Gould had refused to accept a finished full length portrait which he painted.

In her reply to the bill of complaint Mrs. Gould says she made the provision it should be kept secret, as she wished to surprise her husband. Mrs. Gould also hold she is not depicted in the gown in which she posed for the picture. She maintains the portrait bears so little resemblance to her that she does not believe it is a painting of her at all.

Throw a Safe Out of a Second Story Window, Carry It to Barn, and Blow $6,000 Out of It.

MINEOLA, L. I., April 24.—(Special.)—Burglars, in robbing the residence of John Venderlosky, at Floral park early today, threw a safe from the second story window, carried it to the stable, blew it open with dynamite and extracted $6,000. Then they escaped.

Venderlosky and his family are away, and the robbery was not discovered until several hours after, when a servant found the wrecked safe in the stable.

PITTSBURGH WILL NOT LOSE THE POSTOFFICE

No Reductions to Be Made in Public Building Bill on Account of 'Frisco Disaster.

Special Telegram From L. W. STRAYER, Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Although it may become necessary to rebuild some of the Federal buildings in San Francisco, this will not necessitate Pittsburgh losing the promised appropriation of $1,000,000 for a site for a new postoffice. Representative Bartholdt, chairman of the committee on public buildings and grounds, said today, the committee had decided not to reduce any appropriations.

The public building bill is ready to be reported to the house as soon as some of the more important appropriation bills are out of the way. Speaker Cannon has given his approval of it, and that he intends to do all in his power to put it through, is evidenced by the fact that the speaker has an appropriation in the bill for a public building in his own district, placed there at his personal request.

When it became known the government's buildings in San Francisco had been damaged by the earthquake and fire it was feared the bill as now framed would have to be remodelled and some of the items in it reduced or left out to make room for the pressing needs for rebuilding in cities affected by the disaster. But it is now stated this will not be done.

MOTHER GOES INSANE ON TRAIN FOR THE COAST

Arrives from Europe to Learn of Death of Her Three Children and Her Sister.

Crazed by the undoubted loss of her three children and her sister in the San Francisco horrer, the shrieks of Mrs. A. G. Prichard, wife of a San Francisco manufacturer, rang through the Union station last evening. The couple had just returned from an European trip, taken because of the woman's nervous condition. When they landed in New York yesterday they found telegrams from their relatives on the coast, saying the governess was dying in a hospital, and from her statements there was no doubt of the death of the children and their aunt.

Mrs. Pritchard at once became hysterical. The railroad physician at Philadelphia, said Mr. Pritchard, had declared his wife had become insane, and Dr. L. DeLancey Hopkinson, who was on the train and attending the woman, confirmed this diagnosis. When the train pulled out for the west Mrs. Pritchard was still shrieking and it required the united efforts of six men to restrain her.

Pool, aged residents of that place, early last Saturday morning.

The three men are well-known farmers and are neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Pool. Detective Alexander McBeth and Constable Joseph Crossland secured at the men's homes two dark lanterns, three masks, three pairs of footpads and two 38 caliber revolvers.

TWO NATIONS PAY TRIBUTE TO PAUL JONES

Remains of Dead Admiral Are Laid to Rest in Temporary Crypt.

BIG CROWDS ATTEND

Mr. Roosevelt Makes a Brilliant Address and Pays High Tribute to Old Navy.

FRENCH AMBASSADOR TALKS

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

ANNAPOLIS, MD., April 23.—In eloquent recompense for the century and more his body lay neglected in a foreign land, President Roosevelt and high officials of the government today rendered all honors within their power to the memory of John Paul Jones. French and American warships swung anchor in Chesapeake bay while President Roosevelt, standing reverently above the oaken coffin containing the body of the great sea captain of the revolution, broke away from the text of his prepared speech to address himself directly to 150 senators and representatives in congress, who had come from Washington. He called upon them to act in their high offices to keep the army at its present strength, the most efficient on the globe and to upbuild the navy.

"I ask you in public life to act in the way which, if you do not act will show you have no right to be here in this celebration. And you who are not in public life I ask to see that your representatives represent you in standing up for the army and the navy."

Applaud Mr. Roosevelt.

Five thousand persons, officers of the two navies, midshipmen and civilians burst into applause at this, the conclusion of an extemporaneous, but powerful plea for the watchful maintenance of the national defense. The President excoriated "the men who prattle," that no large army or navy is needed now.

It was the greatest day of any in the three ceremonies which have been held since the recovery of the famous sea officer's body by Gen. Horace Porter, while ambassador to France. Crowds lines the streets and stood expectantly about the railroad station long before the train bearing President Roosevelt, Mrs. Roosevelt, members of the cabinet, the French ambassador and Mme. Jusserand and a large number of distinguished naval officers and civil dignitaries was expected. When the train arrived it was 45 minutes late and President Roosevelt immediately entered an automobile and, led by a troop of cavalry, the party proceeded to the naval academy.

As President Roosevelt entered the grounds a national salute of 21 guns boomed out from the old U. S. S. Hartford, once the flagship of Admiral Farragut. Drawn up opposite the residence of the superintendent to receive the head of the nation was the marine battalion and naval academy band.

Remains Taken to New Armory.

Early this morning the casket containing the remains of the long dead admiral had been removed from the temporary vault and deposited in the new armory of the academy. The oaken casket was hidden from view by a union jack and upon it rested the two crossed palms, a wreath of green and the sword presented to the great naval commander by a king of France.

Out in the bay, miles distant, but most of them clearly visible from the naval academy, rode at anchor three great warships flying the tri-color of France. Beside them were the United States battleships Alabama, Indiana and Iowa, the cruisers Cleveland, Minneapolis, Des Moines, Denver and Illinois, and the yacht Mayflower.

Brawny Sailors Line Route.

From these came more than 1,500 sailors and marines, two hundred of the former being from French vessels. They were formed into long lines of brawny men, lining the route to the armory taken by President Roosevelt and the other dignitaries.

When the President entered the armory it was to face 10,000 standing, cheering men and women. The applause broke out afresh when the Oratorio society of Baltimore, placed on a terraced platform at the end of the armory, sang "The Star-Spangled Banner." When this was finished Secretary of the Navy Charles J. Bonaparte said:

"Fellow countrymen—We have met to honor the memory of that man who gave our navy its earliest traditions of heroism and victory. The commander in chief of the navy is of right the first to speak of such a man at such a time. You will hear the President."

President Roosevelt, rising, was again greeted by a burst of applause. He said in part:

President Thanks France.

On behalf of the American people I wish to thank our ancient ally, the great French nation, that proud and gallant nation, to whose help we once owed it that John Paul Jones was able to win for the Stars and Stripes the victory that has given him deathless fame, and to whose courtesy we now owe it that the body of the long-dead hero has been sent hither, and to commemorate the reception of the illustrious dead a squadron of French warships has come to our shores.

The annals of the French navy are filled with the names of brave and able seamen, each of whom counted death as a mistress when the honor of his flag was at stake; and among the figures of these brave men there loom the larger shapes of those who, like Tourville, Duquesne, and the Bailli de Suffren, won high renown as fleet admirals, inferior to none of any navy of their day in martial prowess.

In addition to welcoming the diplomatic and official representatives of France here present, let me also express my heartiest acknowledgements to our former ambassador to France, Gen. Horace Porter, to whose zealous devotion we particularly owe it

THREE HEROES SAVE THE CITY

MANY LIVES SAVED

Admiral McCalla's Men Obey Orders to Check Fire at Any Cost of Life or Property.

MODESTLY RETIRE WHEN DONE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]
SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—Three heroes saved San Francisco—what is left of it. They composed the dynamite squad that threw back the fire demon at Van Ness avenue. When the burning city seemed doomed and the flames lighted the sky further and further to the west Admiral McCalla sent a trio of his most trusted men from Mare Island with orders to check the conflagration at any cost of life or property. With them they took a ton and a half of gun cotton.

Capt. McBride was in charge of the squad. Chief Gunner Adamson placed the charges and the third gunner set them off. The thunderous detonations on that dreadful Friday night meant the salvation of 3,000 lives and millions of dollars' worth of property. Noble residences and worthless shacks alike were blown to drifting dust. That destruction broke the fire and sent the raging flames back over their own charred path.

The whole east side of Van Ness avenue, from Golden Gate to Greenwich, was dynamited a block deep though most of the structures stood untouched by spark or cinders. Not one charge failed. Not one building stood upon its foundations.

District Seemed Safe.

Unless some second malicious miracle of nature reversed the direction of the west wind the whole populous district to the west, blocked with fleeing refugees and unilluminated except by the disastrous glare on the water front, seemed safe by 9 o'clock.

Van Ness avenue is flat on the east side. Every pound of gun cotton did its work and though the ruins burned, it was but feebly. From Golden Gate avenue north the fire crossed the wide street in but one place. That was the Claus Spreckels place at California street. There the flames were writhing up the walls before the dynamiters could reach it. Yet they made their way to the foundations, carrying their explosives despite the furnace-like heat. The charge had to be placed so swiftly and the fuse lighted in such a hurry that the explosion was not quite successful from the trained viewpoint of the gunners. But though the walls still stood, it was only an empty vacancy for the fire as have brick and smoking ruins are poor food for flames.

Engines Completed the Work.

Capt. MacBride's dynamiting squad realized that a stand was hopeless except on Van Ness avenue. They could have forced their explosives further in the burning section, but not a pound of gun cotton could be or was wasted. The ruined blocks formed a trench through the clustered structures that the conflagration, wild as it was, could not leap. Engines pumping brine from the bay completed the little work that the gun cotton had left, and for three days haggard-eyed firemen guarded the flickering ruins.

The desolate waste straight through the heart of the city is a mute witness to the most heroic and effective work of the whole calamity. Three men did this and when their work was over and what stood of the city rested quietly for the first time, they departed as modestly as they had come. They were ordered to save San Francisco and they obeyed orders and Capt. MacBride and his two gunners made history on that dreadful night.

MAJ. DAVIS SEES SENATORS.

Probable Next Postmaster of Pittsburgh Will Today Call at White House and Postoffice Department.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—(Special.)—W. H. Davis, who is here to lay before the President and the postoffice department his recommendations for appointment as postmaster at Pittsburgh, today called upon Senators Knox and Penrose in company with Representative James F. Burke. The senators are taking no hand in the selection of postmaster, but are leaving it to the three congressmen from Pittsburgh. They, however, were pleased to meet the major and discuss the matter with him.

Tomorrow Maj. Davis will meet Representatives Dalzell and Barchfeld who, today, were absent from the city, and he will also call at the postoffice department and at the White House. It is expected that the postmaster question will be disposed of this week or early next week as all of the congressmen are ready to make their recommendation to the President.

NEW CUMBERLAND, W. VA., April 24.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the board of directors of the Standard Porcelain Company it was decided to proceed at once to rebuild the plant that was destroyed by fire. There will be a partial resumption of work within two weeks.

TWO NATIONS PAY TRIBUTE

that the body of John Paul Jones has been brought to our shores.

When the body was brought over the representatives of many different cities wrote to me, each asking it should find its last resting place in this city. But I feel the place of all others in which the memory of the dead hero will most surely be a living force is here in Annapolis, where year by year we turn out the midshipmen who are to officer in the future the navy, among whose founders the dead man stands first. Moreover, the future naval officers, who live within these walls, will find in the career of the man whose life we this day celebrate, not merely a subject for admiration and respect, but an object lesson to be taken into their inhermost hearts.

Every officer in our navy should know by heart the deeds of John Paul Jones. Every officer in our navy should feel in each fibre of his being the eager desire to emulate this energy, the professional capacity, the indomitable determination, and dauntless scorn of death which marked John Paul Jonce above all his fellows.

Surrenders Must Be Explained.

The history of our navy, like the history of our nation, only extends over a period of a century and a quarter; yet we already have many memories of pride to thrill us as we read and hear of what has been done by our fighting men of the sea, from Perry and MacDonough to Farragut and Dewey. These memories include brilliant victories, and also, now and then, defeats only less honorable than the victories themselves, but the only defeats to which this praise can be given are those where, against heavy odds, men have stood to the death in hopeless battle.

It is well for every American officer to remember that while a surrender may or may not be defensible, the man who refuses to surrender need never make a defense. The one fact must always be explained, the other needs no explanation. However, he who would win glory and honor for the nation and for himself, must not too closely count the odds; if he does, he will never see such a day as that when Cushing sank the Albemarle.

In his fight with the Serapis, Jones' ship was so badly mauled his opponent hailed him, saying, "Has your ship struck?" To which Jones answered, "I have not yet begun to fight." The spirit which inspired that answer upbore the man who gave it and the crew who served under him through the fury of the battle, which finally ended in their triumph. It was the same spirit which marked the commanders of the Cumberland and the Congress, when they met an unusually glorious though less fortunate fate.

The Cumberland sank, her flag flying, and her guns firing with the decks awash, while, when summoned to surrender, Morris replied: "Never. I'll sink alongside!" and made his words good.

Knew His Boy Was Dead.

Immediately after the Cumberland was sunk the Congress was attacked, and her commander, Lieut. Joe Smith, was killed. After fighting until she was helpless, and being unable to bring her guns to bear, the ship was surrendered, but when Smith's father, old Commodore "Joe" Smith, who was on duty at Washington, saw by the dispatches from Fort Monroe that the Congress had hoisted the white flag, he said quietly, "Then Joe's dead!" Surely no father could wish to feel a prouder certainty of his boy's behavior than the old commodore showed he possessed when he thus spoke, and no naval officer could hope to win a finer epitaph.

We have met today to do honor to the mighty dead. Remember our words of admiration are but as sounding brass and tinkling cymbals if we do not by steady preparedness and by the cultivation of soul and mind and body fit ourselves so that in time of need we shall be prepared to emulate their deeds. Let every midshipman who passes through this institution remember, as he looks upon the tomb of John Paul Jones, while no courage can atone for the lack of that efficiency which comes only through careful preparation in advance, through careful training of the men, and careful fitting out of the engines of war, yet that none of these things can avail unless in the moment of crisis the heart rises level with the crisis. The navy whose captains will not surrender are sure in the long run to whip the navy whose captains will surrender unless the inequality of skill or force is prodigious. The courage which never yields cannot take the place of the possession of good ships and good weapons and the ability skillfully to use these ships and these weapons, but its presence will often atone for many other shortcomings, and, if with it are combined the other military qualities, the fortunate owner becomes literally invincible.

"The Marseillaise" was then rendered by the Oratorio society. The secretary of the navy announced the French ambassador. Ambassador Jusserand said in part:

Pays Tribute to Porter.

The pious action and unconquerable enemy of a son of America, one who served her in war as a general, in peace, as an ambassador, has brought back to these shores the ashes of the famous sailor who first made known to the world that the new nation just born beyond the seas was meant to be a great nation; great on land and great on sea. In his search for the sacred relics of John Paul Jones, Gen. Porter had no help but his patriotism; but for a good citizen that is help enough.

The burial which is now awarded to the naval hero is such as he deserved, and it fits the circumstances of his life. This life, as the life of many other defenders of American independence, offers this characteristic trait that a French element is in some way or other mixed with it. It is difficult to name Washington without remembering La Fayette, and to name Franklin without thinking of his role in Paris.

It is the same with Paul Jones, and at this day, when supreme honors are rendered to his memory, when the chief of state has praised him in words the value of which is immensely enhanced by the character and personal fame of the orator, it is a fitting circumstance that French sailors who crossed the ocean for this purpose, be now seen mounting guard round his body.

The address of the ambassador was followed by Handel's "Around About the Starry Throne," sung by the Oratorio society.

The audience rose and remained standing while body bearers selected from among the petty officers of the United States and French warships lifted the casket and bore it from the armory. Just outside it was placed upon a truck drawn by long lines of sailors, and the procession moved slowly toward Bancroft hall. Cavalrymen, marines, sailors and midshipmen lined the route, presenting arms as the bier was borne past.

The way was led by Chaplain Henry Clark, U. S. N. He was followed by a file of marines, the midshipmen officers and then by the naval academy band, playing the Dead March from "Saul." The casket was followed by the French and American naval officers, the President and Admiral Sands, then Secretary of the Navy Bonaparte and the French ambassador and then by Gov. Warfield and Gen. Porter.

When the casket had been placed beneath the stairway, Chaplain Clark said a brief prayer and the ceremonies were at an end.

DIES OF SPOTTED FEVER; FUNERAL HELD IN EVENING

Clyde A. Crosby, aged 21, son of George A. Crosby of Kilpatrick street, North Braddock, died yesterday after an illness of four days with cerebro spinal meningitis. The body was buried last evening privately, a public funeral being forbidden by the authorities. Mr. Crosby was employed by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad at Port Perry. He was a member of the First United Presbyterian church.

EMPRESS DOWAGER SENDS BIG RELIEF SUM

PEKIN, April 24.—The empress dowager has sent to the American legation a check for $50,000 for the relief of the sufferers from the disaster at San Francisco and is sending $30,000 to the Chinese in that city.

"Besses o' the Barn."

Among the musical novelties to be heard at Luna park this season is the famous English brass band, "Besses o' the Barn." This organization is nearly a century old, it consists of over 60 men, is led by the Baring brothers, and contains only brass instruments. The band is to play at the approaching New Zealand exposition and this makes its engagement in Pittsburgh possible. Arriving in New York from Liverpool August 4, the organization will come directly here to open its engagement the evening of August 6.

POLICE DRAG NET IS AGAIN CAST

Nine More Second Ward Disorderly Houses Are Closed by Officers.

STOP HOSPITAL ANNOYANCE

The dragnets of the bureau of police were, last night, again cast in the shady districts of the Second ward and as a result nine disorderly houses were closed and 42 women and 13 men placed under arrest. The establishments raided were all in close proximity to the Homeopathic hospital. Repeated complaints about these houses were made to Harry Moore during the time he was director of the department of public safety, but they went unheeded. The proprietresses arrested last night were:

Cherry alley, Mabel Williams and Jessie Darsie.

Second avenue, Clare Brosie, Carrie Wray, Florence Brown, Mary Taylor, May King, Lena Smith and Sadie Emerick.

Though last night's raid was a light one compared with the wholesale work done by the police Saturday night, it was important and timely.

"These houses have been closed for good," said Director Ridgway last night. "The women will be given a short time to get their goods together and leave the district. I will find who the owners of these properties are and decide on some action in their cases later."

The raiding was done by Assistant Superintendent Hennelly and Inspector Robinson. In every house closed last night beer which had been bottled and sold by J. J. Sweeney of 500 Second avenue was found. The proprietors of the houses all admitted they had been compelled to buy their beer from Sweeney, "or get out of the Second ward."

As a result of last night's raid two of the worst dives in the city have been closed. The inmates of these places were negroes and white women.

There were but a few visitors caught in the houses last night. As soon as the word was passed around that the raiders were at work again, about 200 men and boys congregated about the closed houses and watched the victims being escorted to the wagon. After the women were landed in Central station several of their friends, the same men who hovered about the station last Sunday, went to the women's aid.

Director Ridgway shook his head as he looked at these men and said: "I wish there was some way to get them behind the bars."

NEW SAN FRANCISCO WILL BE BETTER THAN THE OLD

OAKLAND, CAL., April 24.—W. D. Wood, former mayor of Seattle, who came to San Francisco immediately upon receipt of the reports of the earthquake, said today: "San Francisco is a world lesson in optimism. Her triumph is proportionate to her misfortune. The new San Francisco will be better than the old, as was the case in Boston, Chicago, Seattle, Galveston and Baltimore, but on a much larger scale. Thirty days will see 50,000 men at work in the burned district."

RAILROADS HAVE A RUSH OF REFUGEES FROM 'FRISCO

CHICAGO, April 24.—Officials of the Southern Pacific lines announced today that cases of extreme destitution were being transported free of charge from California points to New Orleans. A special train of 400 refugees left Ogden yesterday for eastern points. The Southern Pacific has taken out of San Francisco 10,000 people and 50,000 more are still encamped in Golden Gate park, 25,000 at the Presidio and 50,000 elsewhere.

GEN. FUNSTON IS PRAISED BY GREELY FOR GREAT WORK

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Maj.-Gen. Greely commanding the department of the Pacific, in a telegram to the war department announces his arival at San Francisco, and that he has assumed command. The dispatch praises Gen. Funston and says that it is due very largely to Gen. Funston's energy, judgment and tact that there has been a minimum of violence, even under most distressing conditions.

Sharpsburg Paint Shop Burns.

The two-story frame building in Butler street, Sharpsburg, occupied by C. S. Sanders as a paint shop, was burned last night, causing a loss of $1,500.

RISING TO NEW GLORIES

Three hundred plumbers are now at work on sewers and water pipes. The staff of physicians and nurses at all hospitals is complete.

Temporary structures have been erected in Golden Gate park for the housing of 40,000 people. There is little suffering and before a week all refugees here will be comfortable. The committee is sending as many of the refugees as possible to interior points. The railroads furnish transportation gratis to all who come with recommendations from the committee.

The seizure began yesterday of all vacant houses in the burned district, is still under way. Many vacant flats have been taken where the homeless are housed.

Supplies of food are coming in rapidly from outside points and are being centralized in the freight sheds and warehouses still standing. Every ounce of food is checked as it comes in and goes out.

Women Wears Men's Clothes.

In some of the provisional camps established for refugees near the foot of Van Ness avenue and near Fort Mason it was difficult this morning to distinguished men from women. Evidently the supply of women's clothing had been exhausted for many women could be seen dressed in ordinary soft shirts and overalls. In this garb they were walking about their tents, unconcernedly, preparing breakfast.

It has been suggested to the relief committee that stores of khaki bloomers and blouses be purchased for the women. They are preferable to overalls and will save the feeling of the women whose wardrobes were lost in the destruction of their homes.

Congressman Fahn, who arrived this morning, said:

Never in my life have I seen such a spontaneous response to the needs of a distracted country. From every hand I was promised assistance to repair the damage that had been done to the western metropolis. Money was offered in any amount we might need, and promises were made that all the federal buildings that had been destroyed would be rebuilt. Congressman Overstreet of the committee on postoffices, asked me to telegraph him the extent of the damage to the local postoffice, and said that he would incorporate in the appropriation bill now pending a sufficient sum to put it in repair. The same action will be taken in regard to the other government buildings. I believe the disaster will not destroy but only retard the city's progress. We should all put our shoulders to the wheel to help bring from the ruins a city more beautiful and more prosperous than San Francisco has been in the past.

Damaged Other Towns.

An Associated Press reporter who made a trip to the various towns in San Mateo county reached headquarters in Franklin here today. He reports much damage at several places in that county from the earthquake, with a single case of death.

Redwood City sustained the most damage, but no one was killed. San Carlos and Belmont suffered slightly. At San Mateo the damage was considerable. About 2,500 persons are being cared for at San Mateo and many patients are being removed to that point from the San Francisco hospitals.

South San Francisco, lying along the line of San Mateo county, sustained considerable damage, but no loss of life.

The railroad tracks through South San Francisco and near Holy Cross cemetery were badly damaged by the quake, sinking in many places as much as six feet.

The coast towns at Pessadero and Half Moon Bay report damages to houses, but no loss of life.

St. Patrick's seminary and the mansions of the Floods, Nichols and other wealthy San Francisco people, who maintained country homes in San Mateo were seriously damaged. The students at the seminary have been sent to their homes and the institution will have to be partially rebuilt.

Steps are being taken to organize a movement for the rebuilding of San Francisco on the plans of Architect Daniel Burnham. W. E. Barnett, one of the men in this latest movement, says all the funds needed for this great work will be forthcoming. The work will commence at the water front. It is estimated that the work right here will cost $25,000,000. Other portions of the city will be improved exactly after Mr. Burnham's plan, fully explained in the San Francisco press for the last two years.

Conditions at the Presidio are being rapidly reduced to a systematic basis. Within a day or so a model camp will be put in operation. Preparations are being made to gather together all the refugees within one immense tented city. The authorities estimate that the number of campers on the grounds has now been reduced to less than 8,000. A few days ago over 50,000 people were camped on the reservation.

SUSTAINS INJUNCTION.

SOMERSET, PA., April 24.—(Special.)—Judge Francis J. Kooser today handed down an opinion in the case of the Berwind-White Coal and Mining Company against Charles Shank, president of the Windber local of the United Mine Workers of America, and 145 other strikers, of the 6,000 who are now on strike at Windber, refusing to dissolve the injunction which restrains the strikers from interfering with the employes, officers or property of the Berwind-White Company; from calling out "scab" or any other opprobrious epithets; from loitering about the mines or on the highways and streets.

SOMERSET, PA., April 24.—(Special.)—John Mayoisky, Andrew Koutrosh, John Waley, Joseph Gall and Stephen Horwat, Berwind-White Coal and Mining Company strikers of Windber, were brought to Somerset this evening charged with rioting and lodged in the county jail.

CANNON FOR SEWICKLEY.

Confederate Soldier Will Deliver Address at Unveiling Exercises on Memorial Day.

The four large siege guns which are to be placed at the soldiers' monument in Sewickley cemetery will be received tomorrow from Boston and escorted from the railroad station to the cemetery by the entire body of public school children, who will parade with the First Military band, members of the G. A. R., Spanish-American war veterans and the members of the committee in charge.

The unveiling of the cannon will not take place until Memorial day. The Hon. John T. Goodrick of Fredericksburg, Va., will be the orator. He is the first Confederate officer to deliver a Memorial day address in the north. Judge Goodrick was an aid on the staff of Gen. Robert E. Lee.

GIRL SLEEPS ON WHILE FINGER IS CUT OFF AND RING STOLEN

COLORADO SPRINGS, COL., April 24.—Passing through this city today was Miss Logan, bound for her home in Chicago. She wore a bandage on her left hand and said that while she lay unconscious upon the floor of the lobby of the St. Francis hotel in San Francisco the third finger of her left hand was cut off and she was robbed of rings she wore there.

SIGNS BILL THAT MAKES APPROPRIATION $2,500,000

WASHINGTON, April 24.—President Roosevelt late tonight signed the joint resolution of congress appropriating $1,500,000 additional for the relief of San Francisco sufferers. This makes $2,500,000 appropriated by congress.

LINCOLN PARTY NOT WITH GUFFEY

Will Hold Its Convention in May and No Effort Is to Be Made to Fuse With Democrats.

JUDGE STEWART FIRST CHOICE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Press Building.
PHILADELPHIA, PA., April 24, 1906.

The Lincoln party state convention will be held on May 31, probably in this city, and no effort will be made to fuse with the Democrats. This was decided upon by the state committee today at its meeting in this city.

The members of the party from all over the state present at the meeting were enthusiastic in their feeling the Lincoln party should hold its convention without considering what the other parties were going to do and for that reason the early date was set. So far as Democratic fusion is concerned the committeemen were generally of the opinion that it was outside their consideration as Col. Guffey insists that in the event of fusion the gubernatorial nomination go to a Democrat.

The state ticket to be nominated in May will be something like this: Governor, Judge Stewart, Franklin county, or Lewis Emery, McKean county; lieutenant governor, Bayard Henry, Philadelphia; auditor general, E. A. Coray, Luzerne; secretary of internal affairs, Isaac B. Brown, Erie.

For governor the first choice seems to be Judge Stewart and in the event of his refusing the nomination Emery is the next choice. Those present at the committee's meeting from Pittsburgh were Burd S. Patterson and former Senator J. W. Lee.

GERMAN AID REFUSED BECAUSE NOT NEEDED

Explanation of President's Declination Is Called Forth by Telegram from Ridder.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]
NEW YORK, April 24.—The Staats Zeitung will tomorrow print the following telegrams exchanged today:

Hon. Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States.

Your statement is reported in the German press as declining assistance from foreigners for the San Francisco sufferers. Will you allow us to correct this false impression, so that our friends in Germany may be permitted to follow the dictates of their heart and contribute?

HERMAN RIDDER,
New York Staats Zeitung.

Herman Ridder, New York Staats Zeitung, New York City:

Your kind message to the President is received. The spontaneous contributions of the American people have been ample to meet all requirements, and the proffers of aid from all other parts of the world have been so in excess of all needs, that to avoid any discrimination, it was determined best to accept no outside help. The President wishes the German people to understand how deeply we appreciate their sympathy, and that we are quite as grateful to them for fraternal and humanitarian motives as we would be did it seem possible to accept their generous aids.

ROBERT BACON, Acting Secretary.

DISCUSS APPROPRIATIONS.

Indian Bill Occupies the Entire Time of the Senators—Minor Actions Taken.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—The senate spent almost the entire day upon the consideration of the Indian appropriation bill, and it had not been disposed of when the day's session closed. A number of minor bills including one relating to the operation of the coastwise laws in the Philippine islands, were passed. While it was under discussion some regret was expressed over the failure of the house to act upon the shipping bill.

While the Indian appropriation bill was under consideration there was some discussion of the provisions regarding the Kickapoo Indians who have removed to Mexico. Mr. Lodge took exception to the requirement that the $40,000 to be paid those Indians should be paid through a certain bank at Eagle Pass, Texas, and the provision was modified.

GAIN VICTORY OVER WABASH.

Finances of Railroad Company May Possibly Be Affected by Decision in New York.

NEW YORK, April 24.—(Special.)—Finances of the Wabash Railroad Company may be seriously affected by a victory won today over the road by holders of Toledo and Wabash equipment bonds after litigation which has been carried on for many years in federal and state courts.

The suit won today was the one instituted by John C. F. Gardner, an attorney representing bondholders owning about $300,000 of the securities. One remarkable feature of the case is a possibility that the Wabash Railroad Company, rather than pay judgment, will abandon to the bondholders that portion of its line running from Toledo to the Indiana state line, should foreclosure proceedings prove successful.

TWO WOMEN ARE THROWN FROM AN AUTOMOBILE

Two women were thrown from an automobile in the Grant boulevard yesterday afternoon by the breaking of an axle, a wheel from the machine was detached and went over the high retaining wall and smashed a hole in the house of Frank Manion at 3204 Brereton avenue. The occupants of the automobile were Mrs. Wolfe of 5219 Walnut street and Mrs. McNally of 237 Thirty-third street. They got a severe shaking up and a few bruises but otherwise escaped unhurt.

License Plate Is Lacking.

T. C. Ward of 602 Sherman avenue, Allegheny, was arrested in Schenley park yesterday for running an automobile without a license. He put up a forfeit for a hearing.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS

Whenever catarrhal inflammation effects the ears and hearing, it is the beginning of what will end in deafness and unfortunately for those afflicted, the ordinary remedies fail to relieve the trouble. But if sufferers will send a two cent stamp to pay postage, Pretzinger Bros., Chemists, Dayton, Ohio, will send a free sample of Pretzinger's Catarrh Balm which will prove that every form of catarrh and catarrhal deafness can be positively cured. The first application gives relief. Read what grateful people who have used this remedy say about it.

"When I began using your catarrh balm about ten days ago, I could scarcely hear anything. I am a violinist and banjoist; my hearing was so bad that I could not, to have saved my life, tune either instrument—not if my life depended upon it. Yesterday was the first time in nearly three months that I was able to tune and play them and know that they were in tune. Only those who lost their hearing and had it restored can come anyways near expressing the joy I felt when I found that I could again enjoy my music and hear those about me speak." C. B. Rader, Lewisburg, W. Va., April 6th, 1906.

ADVANCE IN PRICE OF COAL NOT JUSTIFIED

John Mitchell Says There Is No Scarcity and Nothing Unusual in Trade Conditions.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]
WILKES-BARRE, PA., April 24.—John Mitchell, national president of the United Mine Workers of America, arrived here late this afternoon. He went to the Hotel Hart where he has opened his headquarters and it is expected that he will remain in this city for some time. When asked if he had anything to say on the situation, he replied: "Peace is always desirable that would be fair to the mine owners and the miners."

Referring to the statement issued by the operators this morning, Mr. Mitchell said he was devoting all his time to the interests of the bituminous miners and had no time to carry on negotiations with the owners of the hard coal mines. Speaking of the general situation, Mr. Mitchell remarked:

"So far the mine owners and the miners have lost nothing by the suspension. Had no suspension been ordered the miners would have been idle probably three or four days a week. Under ordinary conditions the coal they should be mining now, they mined before the suspension and they were paid for it, and the same with the operators; they have the coal and can supply the trade. If there has been any advance in the price it is not the fault of the miners; the blame must be with the men who own the coal stocked, or the dealers. I understand, however, prices for coal have been increased, but there is no cause for it. The 50 cent reduction yearly made in April has not been made this year, and I further understand prices have been increased in other directions. This is unalled for; there should not be one cent increase. There has been no desertion from our ranks and I look for none."

CONFERENCE STILL ON.

Miners and Operators Deliberating Over Scale Conditions—Dolan Still Holds Cash.

Officials of the district organizations of mine workers and operators continued their discussions over the new wage scale and its conditions at the Hotel Henry yesterday and will continue their deliberations today. It is expected a conclusion will be reached before the end of the week, though at this time some important concessions remain to be made by either side. The chief contention is over the two points set forth in The Gazette several days ago—the demand that coal companies clean and harness mules and that a uniform scale be paid outside day men.

Patrick Dolan, former president of the district organization of miners, has turned over the books of the organization to Secretary-Treasurer John Hurley, but still remains in possession of the district funds, which are more than $12,000. He declares he is holding this money on advice of counsel.

New Name for R. & D. Dispatch.

Agent Edward C. Morgan of the Richmond & Danville dispatch is in receipt of word from Manager R. W. Parsons of the fast freight lines at Philadelphia that on and after May 1 this line will be known as the Eastern & Southern dispatch. This name indicates definitely where the line operates, which the old name does not do. Richmond & Danville dispatch was formed while a part of the Southern railway was known as the Richmond & Danville railroad. This was years ago. It is one of the oldest among fast freight lines. When the Richmond & Danville railroad was absorbed by the Southern the dispatch remained under the old designation. The line is operated by the Pennsylvania and Southern roads exclusively. It is over this line that much of the fruit from southern states reaches Pittsburgh.

Mr. Morgan said there would be no change in management or representation with the change of name.

Convenient for American Tourists.

Additional to their use as offices for express freight, the new offices of the United States Express Company at 57 Haymarket street, S. W., London, and at 4 Rue Scribe, Paris, will afford great convenience to American tourists in Europe. General Agent Treuheben said yesterday that these offices will be open for the custody of mail sent to tourists in Europe after May 15. These offices may also be used by tourists as places of rendezvous or as repositories of information pertaining to forwarding express packages, foreign exchange and all general information, including facilities for executing all kinds of commissions such as travelers require.

HUFF AND MOORE MAY QUARREL

Candidacy of a Pittsburgh Lawyer Likely to Cause Fight in Westmoreland.

COLONEL HAS HIS OWN SLATE

John T. Moore, who practices law in Pittsburgh and Greensburg and lives in Arnold, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for district attorney of Westmoreland county. His chief backer is his father, George B. Moore, superintendent of the glass works at Arnold and a factor in Westmoreland county politics. The elder Moore and Congressman Huff have been training together politically, but it is said they will break over the district attorney nomination.

John F. Wentling, Jr., and William T. Dom, Jr., of Greensburg, and Nevin Cort, of Mount Pleasant, are the opponents of Moore. The Huff interests, with the exception of D. C. Ogden, are said to be behind the candidacy of Wentling, Ogden is credited with supporting his brother-in-law, Mr. Dom. George Moore has helped Huff nominate a good many tickets and there are reports that he will make trouble for the colonel should the congressman give orders against young Moore.

George Moore has been in absolute control of the politics of Arnold. The candidates of his choice have always been given a very large vote at the primaries and good support at the general election. The polling place was in the office of the glass company. Yesterday the Westmoreland county commissioners, who are Huff men, changed the polling place to the office of the Arnold Traffic Company. This is taken as a slap at Moore.

There is also some talk of a fight being made in the primaries of June 2 for the control of the state delegates. Huff has a slate of nine candidates. There was a report yesterday that former State Treasurer James S. Beacom was to oppose the Huff slate, but it develops there is no truth in the announcement. Mr. Beacom is not a candidate.

Representatives from 27 Republican clubs in the county met at the Tariff club last night and formed a permanent organization. These officers were chosen: W. R. Browns, president; S. J. Wainwright, Jr., and F. W. Edwards, vice presidents; H. L. Crafty, secretary, and David Hardy, treasurer. It was arranged to send a big delegation to the state league club convention in Philadelphia June 17-20. The delegates will wear the uniform of the American club. A rate of $12 for the round trip has been secured from the railroads. This fall the organization will take part in the campaign. The meeting indorsed the candidacy of J. Hampton Moore of Philadelphia for the Republican nomination for governor and that of A. J. Edwards for postmaster of Pittsburgh.

The ministers and the executive committee of the Colored Baptist church conference of the county has indorsed the candidacy of J. P. McKee of the Twentieth ward for the Republican nomination for sheriff.

GUTHRIE IS REVERSED BY ORDER OF COURT

Market Tenants Ousted by the Mayor Are Restored to Possession of the Stands.

Mayor Guthrie met with a reversal in court yesterday when Judge Young handed down a decision restoring Max Levinson and C. L. Kephart to possession of stands from which they were ousted by order of Mayor Guthrie. The mayor installed G. H. Gledhill and I. B. Pulpress, the original holders of the stands, but former Director Bigelow leased the stands for four years, beginning April 1, to Levinson and Kephart, the latter alleged to be acting for Levinson.

The court yesterday granted an order restraining the city officials, Gledhill and Pulphress, from interfering with Levinson and Kephart until a final hearing is had. Judge Young says in part:

Without now deciding whether the director of public works has authority to make a lease for a term of years or only a revocable license, he certainly had the authority to grant the plaintiff the right to occupy the stands, and he did this.

The court says Levinson and Kephart were entitled to reasonable notice before being turned out, and the arrest of their employes in their absence to dispossess them on a busy afternoon was not an orderly proceeding and so inconsiderate that the court is warranted in restoring matters to the condition existing prior to the dispossession of the plaintiffs. The court says further they can settle their differences by a final hearing in this proceeding or by a new action of law.

TRACKS WILL COME UP.

Director Clark Says Pennsylvania Will Begin Tearing Up Liberty Avenue Rails Before May 6.

Director Clark said yesterday the Pennsylvania Railroad Company would comply with the notice given by the city and would commence tearing up its Liberty avenue tracks before May 6.

The director said the chief engineer of the company has been to the City hall twice to consult with him, and no legal opposition is expected from the company. The company is now trying to make a temporary connection of its elevated line in Duquesne way with the old Duquesne freight station until the new freight houses are completed.

Dislike Rival Organization.

NEW CASTLE, PA., April 24.—(Special.)—Because he became affiliated with the Industrial Workers of the World, William Dufford is no longer president of the New Castle Trades and Labor assembly. He was deposed at a meeting of that body last night and Philip J. Evans, a former Pittsburgh printer succeeded him.

BOLD BURGLARS AT ETNA.

Fusilade of Bullets Fired at Them, but They Escape—East End Robbers Outwit Crowd.

The family of Daniel Lewis of 18 Grismer street, Etna, had an exciting experience with burglars about 2 o'clock yesterday morning. The intruders were discovered by Gladys Lewis, who screamed and aroused her father and brothers. They gave chase to the burglars, firing several shots at them, but the men escaped. A purse containing $6 was stolen. The house of Mrs. Maria Lloyd, one square away, in Catherine street, was also entered, the burglars securing a diamond stickpin valued at $75, belonging to Mrs. Lloyd's nephew, Deputy Coroner Enoch Protherow.

After robbing the trunks of two boarders at the house of Dominic Burbullo, 608 Everett street, East End, at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, two well-dressed young men kept a crowd of pursuers at bay with revolvers until they made their escape. At Princeton Place, John Marks, a housepainter, was at work and attempted to capture the men, but they eluded him.

Our Industrial Exhibit

grows upon the people strongly, and each individual exhibit has its quota of visitors each day. Everybody is invited to come as often as the time can be spared. There is something attractive to be seen on every floor from Fifth to Basement. A great deal of interest centers around the potter and his wheel, China division, Third floor, East. This fully illustrates what is called art in clay. With a bit of clay, a horizontal revolving disk, this potter before your eyes completes various little vessels, such as jugs, pitchers, vases, etc. To enjoy the manufactures most, come in the morning.

Leghorns for Mid-Summer.

True. It only illustrates the tendency of the times to rush things—before the Winter wrap is camphorized we are ready with an opening of mid-Summer Leghorn Hats for women. And we may as well tell you that leghorn is going to be, all in all, the rage this Summer—leghorn sailors, leghorn turbans, leghorn flats, leghorn Fritzi Scheffs, leghorn, Peter Pans, leghorn Johnny Joneses, and we haven't the least doubt there will spring up plenty of other leghorn models.

For this opening the Millinery Division shows every new leghorn conceit that has been thought of—the newest ideas from Paris, the newest and smartest things from New York.

These leghorns will be exhibited in the newest flower effects, plume effects, cherry effects and lace effects.

We will have ready today 100 new Sailors and Dress Hats of Tuscan straw in navy blue and leghorn, for the popular price of $10.00.

French Undermuslins a Fourth, a Third, One-Half Under Regular Prices.

When a woman can buy hand-made French underclothes, such underclothes as only French needlewomen know how to make, for any sort of reasonable prices she is going to have the French undergarments; when she can buy Paris Lingerie for a fourth, or a third, or even a half less than regular prices, it is absolutely sure she is going to indulge her taste in finery. Why shouldn't she? She has the opportunity of buying these Paris-made underclothes for less than American made underclothes, and that's the very reason she says Paris.

Our announcement on Monday that we would hold a sale of Paris lingerie for such reductions as are noted above, proved a wonderful drawing card. There is still excellent choice among these snowy French undermuslins.

Exquisite Suits, Coats and Skirts, for an Average Half Price.

On Monday afternoon we gave women the first news of this Special Sale. We firmly believe that such garments were never offered in this city before for anything like the prices we are now quoting for them.

There are Summer Suits, Summer Coats, Summer Skirts, all from a Fifth Avenue, New York, maker of the highest class of women's clothes, a maker who is as noted in this country as Parisian dressmakers are noted in France.

The materials are all lightweight stuffs, including woolens and silks, including plain colors and color combinations in many pleasing effects.

There is no suit, skirt or coat, in the entire handsome collection but what is fit to grace the most august occasion that can arise.

The Magnificent Suits—

These coat Suits include such new things as the Prince Chap model, the Pony model, the smart Eton, the equally smart Bolero. Some of the coats are invested with dressy little vests, others are profuse with pretty lace frills, still others are bedecked with braids and tucks and bows. Some have collars, others are without collars. There are short, three-quarter and full length sleeves. All the coats and jackets are lined with either silk or satin. Some of the skirts have the new gored effect, others are circular, still others are princess.

Suits at $25.00 From $40 and $45.

Suits at $35.00 From $55 and $70.

Suits at $50.00 From $75 and $100.

Suits at $75.00 From $125 to $175.

The Elegant Coats—

All silk coats, all black coats, some handsomely effective in their plainness, others magnificently rich in their trimming. The styles run from the tiny Eton to the long coat that drops half way between knee and ankle. The Taffeta Coat is by long odds the neatest accompaniment of the white dress, and white dresses are going to be worn to the limit this coming season. The prices for these Silk Coats are remarkable, to say the least.

Coats at $13.50 from $20.00

Coats at $15 from $22.50 & $25

Skirts at $13.50 from $25.00

Skirts at $9.75 from $13.50 and $18.00

Wednesday, April 25, 1906.

Though there was freezing weather yesterday morning no apparent damage was done to gardens, orchards, or shrubbery. Severe frosts are quite common at this season and rarely result in injury. The nurserymen's rule for this latitude is that danger of killing frost is reasonably past by May 5, but there have been notable exceptions to the rule.

Chancellor McCormick's program for the greater Western University of Pennsylvania looks good. There can be no question this institution should advance and it should be aided to do so by the wealthy men of Pittsburgh. First, however, the name should be changed to Pittsburgh university, to avoid the confusion sometimes arising from the similarity of its title to that of the University of Pennsylvania. Pittsburgh should have a first class university.

The anarchists, apparently, are not confining their dastardly attempts to present heads of nations, but regard as prey any who ever held official position. A deadly bomb was discovered yesterday at the home of former President Loubet of France. Loubet attracted the unwelcome attention of anarchists on more than one occasion during his term of office, but it would seem he might be permitted to spend his retiring years in peace. France has had few better presidents.

In the Canadian parliament yesterday the announcement was officially made that anthracite coal has been discovered in New Ontario, in the vast region between the great lakes and Hudson bay. This news was given by the government mining expert. It is of wide importance, but is not wholly surprising. Our own anthracite deposits are near the edge of the oldest land; this reported discovery is near the opposite edge. Nature's forces work the same under similar conditions.

Women of Alliance, Ohio, set a wholesome example to their husbands and brothers when they cleansed a street from its winter's accumulation of mud after the city authorities had been appealed to in vain to do their duty. Women appreciate the benefits of clean streets and realize the discomforts caused by dirty streets as men do not. They know from sad experience how dirty streets add to the burden of housework. It is to be hoped the object lesson will not be lost upon the men of Alliance.

Fortune came to one man in the earthquake. Dr. J. P. Kurnow, confined in Agnew's asylum near San Jose as hopelessly insane, was restored to reason by the shock that killed 50 other inmates. He was among the first in the work of rescue and one of the most useful. Wonderful, isn't it? A great boon to one man came out of a calamity that has roused the sympathies of the world. And at the same time a severe blow has been dealt the theory that some one should be authorized to put to death all human incurables.

A reform in the matter of hours, not anticipated when a number of laboring men were elected members, is likely to be adopted by the British house of commons. Owing to the present late hour for convening, parliament rarely rises until long after midnight. No street cars or omnibuses are running so late, but the wealthier members have private conveyances or can afford to hire cabs. The laboring men declare they have to walk home and are agitating for earlier hours. It is an interesting situation brought about by the new democratic element in what was formerly an aristocratic body.

Progressive action was taken by the finance committee yesterday when it referred the ordinance to abolish the department of collection of delinquent taxes to a sub-committee with instructions to amend and report at the next meeting. The committee indicated the desired amendments, namely to add five clerks to the treasurer's office and to impose an increasing penalty on delinquent taxes, beginning with 5 per cent and adding one-half of one per cent a month until the legal limit of 10 per cent is reached. These amendments will put the ordinance in good shape, supplying a stronger inducement for payment than a percentage to the collector.

Commodore John Paul Jones has been given honorable interment on the shores of America, after these many years. The funeral ceremonies in Annapolis yesterday testified the high appreciation of this country for the heroic services rendered it by the first great commander of its naval forces. John Paul Jones was an unique character in history. His genius was attended by a liberal share of weakness in his general character, but he was the man of the hour in his time and for his native state and country looked. Catherine of Russia gave him title and command as an admiral in her navy, but to Americans there is no higher rank of fame than that of Commodore John Paul Jones.

Maj.-Gen. Greely's praise of the work done by Brig.-Gen. Funston is well bestowed. The country had already recognized the splendid service rendered by Gen. Funston, who necessarily acted on his own initiative, without orders, and met the situation capably. This officer's exploits in the Philippines were somewhat magnified and there followed a reaction to his disadvantage. San Francisco has afforded him the opportunity to prove that President McKinley made no mistake in his rapid promotion of a volunteer officer, whose stature would exclude him from the army under the new regulations.

Two more striking instances of corporations' generosity to stricken San Francisco was afforded yesterday. The street car company, which is rapidly restoring its operating system to efficiency, announce that it would furnish free transportation over its lines to all persons unable to pay. The Southern Pacific railroad offered to lay tracks along the principal streets and furnish flat cars for the removal of debris, taking up the tracks at its own expense when they are no longer needed. The transcontinental railroads, also, have spared neither money nor energy in transporting relief trains across the country, their contributions amounting to millions of dollars before their task is finished. It is likely we shall hear less about "soulless corporations" after this.

District Attorney's Duty.

Mayor Guthrie puts it "up to" the district attorney to prosecute the keepers of disorderly houses, and the renters of property for immoral purposes. He also declares it the duty of that official to purge councils of "grafting" members. The mayor is right, in a general way, but there has been no condition of things requiring a burlesque reminder to Maj. Stewart. As a matter of fact the legal procedure might be greatly facilitated if the police magistrates would return to court charges of selling liquor illegally, for that is where all such cases should go.

District Attorney Stewart should act in these cases. We believe he will and that he will do so energetically. His call on the mayor is evidence of his good disposition. During the previous administration he did good work in prosecuting vice that should have been attended to by the police. The bitterness that grew out of that situation should not be extended to this administration. We are confident Maj. Stewart is ready to do his full duty to forward the reforms inaugurated by Mayor Guthrie and if the county and city authorities work in harmony, as we believe they will, much good can be accomplished.

Mayor Guthrie obviously welcomes the co-operation of the district attorney's office, or he would not have made the suggestion. Maj. Stewart has answered the call.

It should be remembered the previous administration took a radically different position. Activity of the county detectives anywhere within the city limits was resented by the city police administration, and, as the county detectives were primarily intended to afford protection to suburban districts, they operated in the city only when they felt the public interest demanded it. Under the new regime it may be expected both forces will combine to punish the guilty.

A Question of Age.

The small boy who said his aunt was "past 40, but still active," would hardly be chosen to arbitrate the dispute now raging between the women members of a Chicago church, which, it is reported, threatens to disrupt the organization. There are two charitable societies of women in the church: one intended for young women, the other for those who are older. As was natural, newcomers to the church preferred membership in the organization of the "youngsters," and its popularity increased to an extent that promised to put its rival out of business. At this crisis a man in authority was appealed to for a ruling, and it is his decision that women under 40 are young, and those over that age old, which is causing the latest trouble.

It must be apparent to the veriest tyro in diplomacy what a blunder has been made in setting up this arbitrary age limit. A man with the slightest particle of finesse would have suggested the organization of two societies, one to be known as the Young Women's Aid society, the other the Younger Women's Aid society. While all women desire to be considered young, they are not so silly as to deny that there may be younger women. There are no old women nowadays. Carefully compiled statistics show that most girls are 19 until the twenty-fourth anniversary of their birth. Then they continue under 30 until they are married. A large number never reach 40, but remain stationary at 28 until they are 50. The absurdity, therefore, of making 40 the separating point is evident. A man has no business, anyway, delving in these occult mysteries. A woman is young until she is proved old. The man who attempts to grade the women members of a congregation according to age might better set fire to a powder magazine and sit on the roof. He is sure of a good blowing-up in either case.

Foreign Funds Not Needed.

While new shocks of earthquake and a cold rain have added to the discomforts of San Francisco, the situation has improved in many respects. Communication has been re-established, food is abundant, its distribution is being systematized, clothing is in better supply and some shelter is being provided. Funds are ample for the moment, there is a great reserve in the hands of relief committees, and the worst is apparently over.

More regular soldiers will be sent on request of Gen. Greeley to continue the work so creditably begun by Gen. Funston and his troops. The whole duty of maintaining order may then be assigned the regular troops who may be relied upon to continue rigid discipline with reason. The situation demands severest measures, but warrants no such hysteria as the shooting of the relief committee, carrying the Red Cross flag.

Some bad feeling has been aroused in Germany by President Roosevelt's rejection of contributions from the German steamship companies. A blatant socialist, late host of Maxim Gorky, in New York has assumed to criticise the President and to offer acceptance of the rejected contributions. The American people, however, will sustain the judgment of Mr. Roosevelt. There is no insult to the German nation, or to the German people in rejection of these particular steamship contributions, offered at a time when congress is considering legislation that may be held to be inimical to the interests of those ocean carriers. The interference of the New York propagandist will not be welcomed.

Foreign contributions will not be needed. American funds aggregate more than $15,000,000 and can be speedily augumented. This amount, systematically administered will go far in relieving physical distress. There is no intent to recoup property losses in this manner. Insurance will reach a good way in that direction. The disbursement of the American funds is now a more urgent problem than their further collection.

The Czar's Wise Decision.

Premier Witte's advice has prevailed and Emperor Nicholas has decided to go to St. Petersburg in person, May 10, and open the first Russian parliament. His hesitation was characteristic of this weak ruler, and cannot be attributed entirely to fear of physical violence, though that is a danger ever imminent. In the eyes of the people it is their emperor who has granted their long-postponed rights and it is fitting he should personally convene the legislative assembly which marks the beginning of a new era in Russian history, notwithstanding the numerous restrictions which render the assembly's power merely nominal.

General amnesty for political prisoners and the abolition of martial law, it is rumored, will be proclaimed by the emperor in his opening speech. This was the reported program for Easter, and indeed had been set for other occasions in the last few months. Its performance at the opening of parliament would be most appropriate as an earnest of benefits to follow. Those who are hoping for great results to flow from the first meeting of the Russian parliament are doomed to disappointment. It can be regarded simply as an opening wedge in securing for the Russian people that measure of liberty which they have so long been denied. The czar retains the power to dissolve parliament and order new elections without fixing a time for parliament to reassemble. He has absolute control of the fighting forces, relations with foreign powers, can declare war or peace, and possesses the prerogative of placing cities, districts and provinces under martial law, involving a suspension of civil rights, whenever he thinks best. An elaborate program has been prepared for the opening of the first parliament and its significance deserves some such celebration. The czar is evidently determined not to repeat his colossal mistake of refusing to receive a deputation on an occasion that was followed by deplorable consequences. His people want to see and hear him. A stronger man would reap great benefits from such a golden opportunity.

After the Noise-Makers.

The Society of the Suppression of Unnecessary Noises, branches of which are to be established throughout the country, while it may not see its way to taking cognizance of Democratic orators, certainly has a wide field for endeavor. One of the founders, a New York woman, has just succeeded in making life uncomfortable for the persons who blow steam whistles. She has also brought about a reform on the railroads. Physicians joined in testimony to show the evil wrought by unnecessary noises and more particularly their injurious effect upon those already sick and patients in hospitals. In the summer season this annoyance is more noticeable than at any other time, since the windows are then open. Electric cars in all cities do an unnecessary amount of gong ringing, it is declared, and the society will ask traction managements to remember that most persons do their sleeping at night, when they can.

There is no doubt much of the noise which assails the ears of city dwellers at night could be prevented. Bureaus of public health might well give the matter their attention. Where there are no laws to fit the offense, new ones should be adopted. The movement for noiseless nights should have the support of all who wish to live long in the land.

"Russell Sage has displayed an unusually quiet and retaining disposition in the last few days," observes the Baltimore American. Mr. Sage subscribed the sum of $5,000 for the San Francisco sufferers. The courteous American will no doubt make a handsome apology.

John Mitchell and his district presidents have begun a canvass of the anthracite region "to secure a settlement of the mining dispute." This is equivalent to an effort to obtain consent of the miners to accept the proposition of the operators.

The World's a Stage and We the Players

Gossip of Men and Things on Both Sides of the Asbestos Curtain.

By Charles M. Bregg.

Mr. Thomas Boyle, who is something of a local repository of facts, dates and incidents in Pittsburgh's theatrical history, sends me the following sidelight on an item published in this column last week about the Crisps of Georgia:

"You were quite right in your column in relation to the father and mother of the late ex-Speaker Crisp. W. H. Crisp and wife played a long while ago at the Old Drury. Crisp was stage manager and a very good actor. In an itinerary through England young Crisp was born. The little precinct politicians would tell us that that is one of the reasons why Judge Crisp could never have become president. The ex speaker enlisted in the confederate service when but 17, and in 1864 was held as a rebel prisoner at Fort Delaware. Although I was in the fort during the time he was there, I did not know of it until it was published at the time he was elected speaker.

The Shubert brothers seem to be a pair of insatiable producers. They have gobbled up the Will Cressy outfit that was at the Grand last week and will star the pair next season in a play that will give scope for Cressy's peculiar talent for the pathetically humorous "Rube" type of character. Those who have not closely followed Cressey's career may be surprised to know that David Belasco not long ago entertained a serious ambition to present him in one of his own plays. It is presumed that the Cressey play is to be included in the Shubert arrangement.

Cressey's fame dates back to the early days of "The Old Homestead." For several years he and Miss Dayne have been accredited one of the most popular and highest salaried pairs in the varieties. Miss Dayne, the actor's side partner, is also his life partner, and proves an effective aid to the clever player.

Apropos of this announcement concerning the Cresseys it is interesting to quote this justly famous writer of vaudeville sketches on the history of that vocation. Says a recent writer in The Theater Magazine:

"The 20-minute vaudeville sketch is at present, probably, the most difficult and profitable form of dramatic writing. The demand for bright, original sketches far exceeds the supply, so rapid is the growth of vaudeville houses. In number the latter now quite equal legitimate theaters, Greater New York supporting some 16. The market of vaudeville sketch writing is practically controlled by three men—Will M. Cressy, George M. Cohan and Edward Day. And neither, to note the dean of the craft, "are literary fellers." Cressy and Cohan are actors who perform in their own sketches while furnishing vehicles for fellow-players. Edward Day, until he caught the trick, was an unsuccessful newspaper man.

"Ten years ago, when vaudeville entertainment first appeared to popular taste, the 20-minute playlet, as it obtains today in the best houses of continuous performance, was practically unknown to the American stage. It is distinctly a product of the times, and its present vogue may be said to date from the rise of Cressy. It is five years since Cressy drifted from legitimate drama—he was nine years with Denman Thompson—into vaudeville. A year later he wrote his first sketch. It was a hit. Since then he has written 97 sketches and has never had a failure.

"So substantial is his reputation that vaudeville managers everywhere are said to engage without trial performance the applicant who possesses a Cressy sketch."

✦ ✦ ✦

For the benefit of those aspiring writers for this wonderfully profitable field of stage authorship I will quote here a few of Cressy's rules for writing vaudeville sketches. He ought to know. "First," says the dean of the profession, "get a good climax. Without a good climax it's waste of time to begin a vaudeville sketch. I write the last page first. Second—Open with action—no explanations, no long speeches. Instead of the characters telling the audience what they are going to do, have them do it. This is absolutely necessary in order to get the mind of the audience away from the new scenery and the impression left by the previous performance. The condition of vaudeville is quite unlike that of the legitimate stage. When the vaudevillist comes on, the audience is taken up with what has preceded him. It must be cleared, ready for new impressions, before he can hope to arrest attention. The spoken word, however bright, is liable to be lost. Salvation is in action—quick, vigorous, compelling.

"Third—Have at least three subjects for the characters to talk about. One subject, I find, is quickly exhausted, so I manage to have at least three to quicken and hold interest. Fourth—Short sentences, one breaking into the other with a laugh in every other line. My best sketches have a laugh in every line. Fifth—Introduce towards the last a bit of pathos, just enough to moisten the eye. But the line before curtain fall must raise a laugh. This is imperative to put the audience in good humor with itself and ready for the next number of the program.

"Vaudeville managers are always solicitous for the effect of a whole performance. They take care no one number is sacrificed to another. No vaudeville manager is producer in the sense of the manager of a legitimate theater. The applicant for engagement must have his performance in readiness to go on and be off in 20 minutes."

Cressy is a hard worker and a patient one. It looks easy to the outsider, but the writer and actor says:

"I never let a sketch go from me until I am absolutely sure of it." "I was weeks finding a line to close one of my plays. I have one now I have held from the public two years because I am unable to find a line that will close it with a laugh. What it is that moves an audience to laughter is mystery of mysteries. My audiences are a continuous study to me. What appeals to one falls flat upon another. Once I paid a man $10 for a joke that convulsed me with laughter. Enthusiastically I worked it into a sketch, but I had to cut it out. It didn't raise the ghost of a smile. I have put what seemed to me most inane sentiment into the mouth of a character as a 'feeder' to bring out in the next line what I considered a gem of a laugh-maker to have my gem wholly lost and the 'feeder' greeted with uproarious laughter and applause. There's no counting on what will move a vaudeville, or any other audience for that matter, to smiles and tears."

These clever people who have originated and maintained a profitable system of vaudeville entertainment are coming back into the legitimate fold next season. It will be interesting to see the result.

ROYALTY LIVES HIGH; ARE NOW BANKRUPTS

Duke Frederick Paul and Wife Pile Up Debts That Have Swamped Them.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

BERLIN, April 14.—Love of luxurious travel—private cars, palatial yachts, high-power motor cars, princely hotel accommodations—have made it necessary for the royal authorities of the grand duchy of Mecklenburg-Schwerin to declare Duke Frederick Paul and his wife, the Duchess Marie, public bankrupts and appoint a conservator for the future handling of their money matters. Announcement of this fact, while not a surprise in German aristocratic circles where the duke and duchess' high-flying propensities have long been common gossip, has caused a painful impression in imperial and royal circles, for nothing is so well calculated to diminish the prestige of "majesty" and the monarchical idea as such shortcomings upon the part of blue-bloods to whom loyal subjects of the kaiser are compelled to look up in reverential awe.

These royal spendthrifts—uncle and aunt of the German crown prince and crown princess, the future kaiser and kaiserin of Germany—have been sort of black sheep in the Teuton monarchial list, owing to the scandal their marriage provoked in 1881. When he decided to marry the Duchess Marie, who was then a princess of the Austrian house of Windisch-Graetz, it became necessary for the duke to renounce Lutheranism and become a Catholic. He did so, but thereby not only forfeited his right to the succession of the Mecklenburg-Schwerin throne, but was put out of the Prussian army by command of old Emperor William I., who was an unbending religious as well as a military martinet.

Developed Millionaire Tastes.

His court and military career thus checked, Duke Frederick Paul chose to travel, but his allowance of $20,000 a year proved penurious in the extreme, for he and his wife developed millionaire tastes for which that stipend proved utterly inadequate. Frequent trips to Monte Carlo, Paris, St. Petersburg, Vienna and London, in which his suites of servants always participated, cut gaping holes in the couple's income, which even frequent borrowings from fellow royalties and private bankers were not able to make good. Things came to such a pass early this year that the reigning grand duke of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, the spendthrift couple's nephew, found it necessary to call a halt, and the comptroller of the Schwerin royal household was officially named to manage the duke's future spendings. His debts amounted to $1,-125,000.

In taking the drastic step of depriving his uncle of the control of his own property, the grand duke is acting within his rights. German sovereigns, by their family statutes, have extraordinary powers over their relations. Not only can they regulate their expenditures, but they can divorce them without recourse to the tiresome machinery of the law! This stern and virtuous nephew is 30 years younger than his scapegrace uncle.

May Try Simple Life.

Duke Frederick Paul is 54 years old and the duchess 50. Their unmarried daughter of 22, the Duchess Marie Antoinette, was Germany's candidace for the hand and heart of King Alfonso of Spain. An unmarried son of 21 is a lieutenant in the army. The German Crown Princess Cecilie, of course, is a blood niece of the royal bankrupts, her late father being Duke Frederick Paul's brother. The duke is said to have made strenuous efforts to avoid the conservator scandal, but his highly placed kinsmen and kinswomen declared his credit with them exhausted and they decided matters must go to extremes. It is understood Duke Frederick and his wife will settle down to the simple life in Mecklenburg-Schwerin at their pretty country seat and try to worry along on the $30,000 income which, it is reported, will continue to be allowed. The plain burghers of the grand duchy, out of whose pockets the stipend comes, are up in arms, however, and there is an undercurrent of protest and insistence that the duke be made to go to work for his living.

Quiet Observations on Timely Topics

Happy Is the Wooing That Is Not Long a Doing.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Spring time is mating time the world over, not only for human beings, but for all animals, insects, plants and flowers. Just now the migratory birds are mating. Have you ever noted the courtship of birds?

Sure, they court, have love spats, and sometimes agree to disagree. The male bird leads in the courtship the same as man, and often makes equally as big a fool of itself.

Mr. Wallace, a man of the field and wood, and an earnest student of animated nature, thus describes the courtship of birds of paradise:

"When about to mate, a large crowd of these brilliant adventurers resort to some large tree at early dawn. Then they fly from limb to limb, in a kind of fantastic dance, until the tree seems a mass of waving plumes and glancing feathers. The colors are most beautiful, being a mixture of deep violet, pale yellow, emerald green and light orange. They quite overpower the meek little brown and gray females, who sit in the shade and watch their gay visitors."

And E. A. Mathews, another ardent lover of God's creatures, thus generalizes on animal and bird courtship:

"Birds are not the only folks who feel frolicsome in the spring. When the fruit trees bloom we see the bees flitting about the orchard and hear their happy hum—and early in the season the queen bee takes her flight to find her mate in the sunny air. The dragon fly is another graceful wooer, his golden wings dazzling his sweetheart as he flits from flower to flower. I have seen many pretty love-plays between the butterflies, when the summer sunshine tempts them far above the flowers, up into the dim distance, and almost out of sight."

Mrs. Miller, who writes so delightfully about birds, and flowers, and children, and nature, and quite a large love spot in her heart, and a fancy for courtship and love-making. Following is her account of pearowl courtship, and it is correct, as every one knows who is acquainted with these beautiful but awkward birds:

"Several of the males will form a stamping ground, beating down and removing all the weeds and grass in a space 10 to 15 feet square. When this queer dancing hall has been fixed to their taste, they call all the females about them, in order that they may witness the agility and gracefulness of the would-be suitors. The males will then enter the arena holding their heads back between their trailing wings and spreading their tails to their fullest extent, holding their legs perfectly stiff, while they jump awkwardly about the ring; or, folding their wings and tails and stretching out their necks as far as possible, will run at full speed around the improvised ballroom; or, standing in the center of the plot, they will elevate their tails, lower their heads, and beat the ground with their wings. Every now and then they will utter the most discordant shrieks and yells, doubtless very pleasing to the ears of the lady peafowls, but very disagreeable to ours."

The red-headed woodpecker is a most determined lover, and will not take "no" for an answer, as shown in the following description of a courtship by Mr. Mathews:

"He finds a conspicuous 'coign of vantage' upon the boughs of a tall hickory tree, and starts in early in the morning. The female is not allowed to forget for one moment the presence of her bold knight. He clamorously and persistently declares his love, often punctuating his entreaties with pecks of his hard beak and blows of his muscular wings. The poor ladylove defends herself as best she can, and scolds and pecks and hisses at him with all the power of her spunky little nature. And all the while he acts so arrogant, he does not forget to show off his good looks. He erects his brilliant scarlet cap until it seems a 'crest of fire;' he trails in stately fashion his black and white wings, spreading them out to their fullest extent; he spreads out the rounded tail feathers until they look like a graceful fan; he crouches close to the body of the tree, stretches out his head and neck, and emits a volley of sharp, rasping cries. Turning suddenly, he will scurry up and down the tree with extraordinary swiftness, emitting soft, low cries, every now and then, however, sending forth a flood of shrill, excited screams. During his courtship the woodpecker does not allow any other bird to alight in his tree, or even in his neighborhood. He even forgets his fear of man during this interesting epoch."

Courtship as conducted by members of the red-head family recalls an old-time custom in New Zealand, and still in vogue in some parts of that far-off country.

The woolly-headed lover takes a goodly cudgel, or war club of about the heft of a baseball bat, and sallies forth in the dark of the evening in search of a dusky sweetheart, and it appears that he is quite certain to find one, for it seems the dusky maidens have a habit of sallying out alone about that witching hour of the night.

This bold, determined lover stealthily slips up behind her and she allows him to, and with a full swing of the cruel club he knocks her senseless, and before she has had time to recover either her breath or sense, or to raise a hue and cry, he drags her bodily to his shack, or cave-house, and she is his.

Her folks suspecting an elopement of this sort hasten to his domicile where they find her bleeding and crying, and her fiance wrapped in smiles, and not much else.

After mingling their moans with her cries, and their tears with her's, they sop up some of the blood and daub it on his face, and on their own, and declare them married.

This is no joke, but a sober historical fact. The funny part of it is that the girls in that country wander nightly along those dark woodland paths in fond expectation of meeting a beau and being courted after this heroic fashion.

CASUAL GLIMPSES AROUND THE CITY

Notes About People and Events in Which Pittsburghers Are Interested.

A large number of eastern railroad officials passed through Pittsburgh last night enroute to the annual meeting of the American Railway association which opened with a preliminary session at Chicago yesterday. Simon C. Long, superintendent of the Pittsburgh division of the Pennsylvania railroad, went out with the party. A small party of German, French and English railroad officials were included in this party. While they can take no official part in the American railway conference, they have seized upon the opportunity of meeting American representatives of railroading who will be present. Among the foreigners were M. Francois Mathieu, of Lyons, a government official having a certain supervision of railroads; Herman Wolf, of Frankfort-on-Main; P. Carcoyne and Rudolph G. Ritz, respectively superintendent and general manager of the Berlin terminal, and A. F. Reick, cousniting engineer of Crefeld, all of Germany. Pierre G. Vigel, a Frenchman, who is prominent in Swiss railroad problems, and G. Jorgensen, a railway official of Stockholm, Sweden, were also among the visitors.

"Europe has much to learn of America in railroad matters," said Rudolph G. Ritz of Berlin. "I know Pittsburgh fairly well, for I attended the last meeting of the American Railway association and was entertained with a large party of foreign railroad men in Pittsburgh last year. Have you noticed the number of industrial leaders—not casual sightseers, but manufacturers, officials and experts, who come from Europe to visit your country and imbibe its knowledge? Truth to tell, the industrial development is worthy of it. But you just remember that Europe, particularly Germany and France, has its wonderful development on lines not covered by Americans, but entirely feasible and a great deal more scientific. American officials do not come to Europe to learn, not because they are self-sufficient or proud, but because they believe that a board country is fit only for broad methods. That is true, in a measure; but I will say that if railroad officials, as well as every type of manufacturer, would try the welcome that Europe holds out to those who come to learn, they would find labor-saving and safety-devices everywhere—the product of our savants and scientific men—that would prove a happy adjunct to their broad viewpoint and restless energy which Europeans find time for study and reason to travel thousands of miles."

Flint Glass Conference.

The annual conference between representatives of the American Flint Glass Workers' union and the wage scale committee of the National Association of Manufacturers of Pressed and Blown Glassware was held at the Hotel Henry yesterday to determine just when the fires shall be extinguished during the summer months and when they will be lighted, together with the wage classification of several new styles to be featured by manufacturers this fall. The representatives of each association held a meeting before this joint conference, and at yesterday's meeting no difficulty was experienced in reaching an agreement. The Flint Glass Workers' association was represented by its executive board—T. W. Rowe, president; William Croke, vice president; John L. Dobbins, secretary. W. P. Clarke, assistant secretary, and 66 members drawn from all over the country. E. J. Barry, president of the manufacturers, was the mouthpiece of the employers, who were also represented by Secretary John Kunzler and a dozen manufacturers. Before the joint conference yesterday final arrangements were made by the workers for their two weeks' convention at Sea Isle City, beginning July 9.

Dr. Harris' Rare Collection.

The collection of musical instruments owned by Dr. L. S. Harris, of 320 South St. Clair street, which has been on exhibition at the Musical Union exhibit at St. Louis for the past week, was awarded first prize. Dr. Harris' collection is considered by connoisseurs to be the finest in Pennsylvania. Violins from Germany, Italy, Spain and France are represented by the workmanship of the master-makers of their respective countries. The one string fiddle of the Chinese, the Gita-para from Ceylon, as well as the cigar box production of the negro of the south, is represented in this collection, as well as the Leppo fiddle, the work of a Filipino and constructed from the skin of the leopard. While not possessing the beauty in workmanship and tone of a model of the "Strad." school, its tone is not displeasing to the ear. The exhibit contains 18 models of the different forms of reed and brass instruments used in the land of Nippon. Dr. Harris will loan his collection to the Carnegie library so that the Pittsburgh public may have the advantage of viewing the same.

The guests will be quartered at the Schenley where they will be met by the reception committee, of which Robert Pitcairn is the chairman. Luncheon will be served at the Americus club house in lower Penn avenue and during the afternoon there will be an automobile trip around the city.

SURVIVOR TELLS THRILLING STORY

Returns from Scene of Earthquake Horror—Carnegie Representative Missing.

WOMAN ESCAPES IN TROUSERS

A thrilling narrative of the earthquake and fire in San Francisco is told by Newton W. Emmens, a mining engineer of the Park building, who returned to Pittsburgh yesterday morning. Emmens was in the midst of the earthquake. He and E. C. Conway, president of the Overholt Coal & Coke Company of Fairmont, W. Va., were quartered at the Hotel Argyle in McAllister street. At 5:12 o'clock Wednesday morning Emmens was awakened by the plaster of the ceiling falling on him, and saw the furniture sliding around the room. Clad in his pajamas he ran downstairs to the front door and in time to see the wall of the city hall opposite, crash to the ground. The corridors of the hotel were filled with guests in their night clothes and Emmens assisted in preventing the women rushing into the street where they would have been killed. After the earthquake shocks had stopped he went back to his room and dressed.

The friends of Capt. John A. Wood of the West End, yesterday received a message from Palo Alto saying Capt. Wood and his family were uninjured. Similar information was received of Mrs. Owen Hotle, daughter of Mrs. R. T. Miller of Ford City, and a granddaughter of Capt. Wood, who are attending the University of California at Berkley, Cal.

Seeking Carnegie Representative.

Efforts are being made by the Carnegie Steel Company to find Alfred Rosser, assistant representative of the company at San Francisco. Rosser and his family are missing. They formerly resided at 122 Walter avenue, Thirty-first ward, this city. Robert Carr is the chief representative of the Carnegie company in San Francisco and has wired that he can find no trace of Rosser or family.

Mrs. Louise Homer, well-known singer of the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company, who is a native of Pittsburgh and a daughter of the Rev. W. F. Beatty, pastor of the Shadyside Presbyterian church years ago, is ill in a hospital at Chicago from her experience in San Francisco. She and her husband were at a hotel and she escaped clad in a wrapper belonging to a friend and in a pair of her husband's trousers.

Mrs. Arthur Fairchild received a postal card from her husband, who was reported killed. He was at Berkley.

Prof. Theodore Salmon, formerly organist of First Church of Christ, Scientist, who removed to San Francisco two years ago with his mother, telegraphed to friends here that they had escaped, but lost everything they owned.

Lost $2,000 Cash in Fire.

J. F. McCaughtry, a paper manufacturer with offices in the Lewis building, received a telegram from his brother-in-law, W. L. Martin of Wilkinsburg, stating he had lost his effects, including $2,000 in money.

J. J. McDermott, iron manufacturer, residing at 701 Filbert street, received word from his brother Thomas, that their property and household goods were destroyed by fire, but the family was safe.

Mrs. J. H. Huff of Center street and Penn avenue, Wilkinsburg, wired to relatives yesterday that she was safe.

Unable to get word of his daughter, who is a Sister of Charity in San Francisco, John S. Cosgrave of Crafton, telegraphed to the mother house of the order at Emmettsburg, Md., and received a reply stating all the sisters in San Francisco were uninjured, but the building occupied by them was totally destroyed.

Mrs. A. Roeble of 307 Austin avenue, San Francisco, is in this city at the home of F. M. Stuckey, 550 Stanton avenue, and is almost distracted over the failure to get news of her husband and sons.

INSANE MEN AND WOMEN ADD TO TRAGEDY OF SCENE

Uncanny Looks and Fiery Eyes Are Accompanied by Frightful Cries and Screams.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SALT LAKE CITY, April 24.—Nothing could be more terrible than the calamity at Agnews asylum, near San Jose, as described by R. L. Drinkwater of Denver. He fled to San Jose from San Francisco only to find that he had gone from bad to worse. He said today:

"We went to Agnews where we had a friend and found the asylum in ruins and 200 demented creatures buried there. It was a sight to transfix one with horror to see scores of mad men and women strapped to trees all over the grounds, crying, shrieking and cursing. Ordinarily troublesome in their way, the excitement of the falling building made them mad indeed, and their uncanny looks and fiery eyes were horrible to behold.

"Oh, such cries as came seemingly from the bowels of the earth. 'The devils have got me. Let me out.' 'I am the king, you cannot kill me.' 'I want my supper. I want my dinner.'

TROOPS DOING GREAT WORK.

Reckless Action of Some Guards Evidenced by Killing Tilden is Not General.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—Following the unfortunate killing of Maj. H. C. Tilden of the general relief committee on Sunday night by some self-constituted vigilants, it is said the city patrols and all guards will be disarmed and the troops instructed not to shoot except in cases of extreme necessity.

If the reckless action of some of the guards in the triple system of policing the city by three separate organizations has given rise to much complaint, the regulars, soldiers and marines, have earned for themselves high commendation for their efficient work and the exercise of good judgment and discretion in dealing with the people under the present trying circumstances.

Needs 2,500 More Soldiers.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Maj. Gen. Gresely, in command at San Francisco, advises the war department that 5,000 more troops could be used advantageously and that 2,500 more are absolutely necessary.

No Deaf, Dumb or Blind Killed.

OAKLAND, CAL., April 24.—Principal Wilkinson of the Deaf, Dumb and Blind asylum at Berkeley, reports that no pupil or employe of the institution received the slightest injury. All are well.

16 PHYSICIANS BAFFLED.

A CAREFUL EXAMINATION OF LOCKHART'S STOMACH SHOWS NO TRACE OF HIS MALADY
16 DOCTORS IN CONSULTATION BUT FIND THEMSELVES BAFFLED.
A.C. LOCKHART AS HE APPEARED AFTER TAKING PERUNA
AS THE YOUNG MAN APPEARED UNDER THE X-RAY EXAMINATION
CHEMICAL ANALYSIS FAILS TO REVEAL THE CAUSE OF LOCKHART'S MALADY

Mr. Lockhart's Recovery Proves a Great Sensation In His Home City.

Dr. Hartman, the Inventor of Pe-ru-na, Receives Similar Congratulations Every Day.

ROCHESTER, Apr. 1.—Immense interest has been aroused by Mr. A. C. Lockhart's remarkable recovery, and his own personal statement will cause tremendous interest in the remedy that saved his life. He states:

"I am nearing forty-four years of age, was born and raised in Rochester, N. Y., and have been unlucky enough to be among the poor and obliged to work for a living.

"About fifteen years ago I commenced to be ailing, and called a physician.

"He pronounced my trouble a species of dyspepsia, and asked me, after he had treated me about six months, to get a leave of absence from the establishment by which I was employed (all told about twenty-five years) and go into the country, where I would get a change of life and fresh air.

"I did so and got temporary relief. I went back to work and was again taken with very distressing pains in my stomach. I seldom had a passage of the bowels without force.

"I consulted another physician, with no better results. My disease kept growing on me, until I had exhausted the ability of sixteen of Rochester's best physicians. Can tell their names if necessary.

"The last physician recommended me to give up my work and go South, after he had practiced on me for one year.

"They gave me a thorough examination with the X-Ray, with no results. They could not even determine what my ailments were.

"I do not, and never have taken any stock in patent medicines, but your testimonials in the Rochester papers were worthy of consideration.

"I told my wife I was going to try a bottle of the Pe-ru-na. The next time I went to the city I purchased a bottle, and before the bottle was half gone I noticed a change for the better.

"I am now taking the fifth bottle, and have not an ache or a pain anywhere.

"My bowels move regularly every day, and I have taken on eighteen pounds of flesh, my usual weight being 145 pounds.

"I was down, at one time, as low as one hundred and twenty-six pounds.

"I have recommended Pe-ru-na to a great many, and they have recommended it very highly.

"I have told several people who complained of that species of catarrh that if they would purchase a bottle of Pe-ru-na and take it according to directions, and if when the bottle was gone they could come to me and tell me candidly that they had no benefit, I would pay for the bottle of medicine.

"I have so far had no complaints, but all first-class recommendations."—A. C. Lockhart, 27 Atkinson street, Rochester, N. Y.

Will the Doctors Give Pe-ru-na the Credit?

A number of members of the medical profession who have been treating Mr. Lockhart will be puzzled and surprised. Mr. Lockhart had become so well-known and his ailment had been the subject of so much speculation and experimentation that his restoration to health should create deep interest among the doctors who have had the opportunity of studying and prescribing in his case.

People prejudiced against proprietary medicines will no doubt belittle this cure as much as possible, but Mr. Lockhart and his family and his neighbors believe that the statements recited herein have perfect foundation.

Pe-ru-na has been doing much good in relieving untold cases of catarrh and catharrhal diseases in the United States as well as in other sections of the world.

A great many prominent men and women know by experience that Pe-ru-na has special virtues in relieving catarrhal affections of the stomach and digestive organs, but, of course, it does not happen every day that so desperate a case as Mr. Lockhart's comes to public notice.

Proof of Pe-ru-na's Merit.

The fact that he had tried so many physicians—the fact that he had spared no pains or expense—had been examined by experts—had been treated by specialists—had passed through all kinds of experimentation and manipulation and yet received no benefit—and then, after all this had happened, he quietly begins to take Pe-ru-na and finds prompt relief and permanent cure — these facts are much too important and startling to escape the notice of the ever-vigilant public press.

Magazine Writers and the People.

Magazine writers who make a specialty of assaulting patent medicines are liable to shut their eyes against this kind of literature coming from the people. But the people are always inclined to listen to practical proofs uttered by practical people, versus theoretical writers, who know but little of the great masses and their needs.

Revised Formula.

"For a number of years requests have come to me from a multitude of grateful friends, urging that Pe-ru-na be given a slight laxative quality. I have been experimenting with a laxative addition for quite a length of time, and now feel gratified to announce to the friends of Pe-ru-na that I have incorporated such a quality in the medicine which, in my opinion, can only enhance its well-known beneficial character.

CHIEF HUMPHREYS MAKING A PRESENTATION TO HIS NEW ASSISTANT ENGINEER

CHIEF CONNELLY IS HONORED BY FIREMEN

Captain of No. 19, Recently Promoted, Presented With Helmet and Coat.

Assistant Chief James Connelly of the Pittsburgh fire department who, on the first of this month, was promoted from the captaincy of engine company No. 19, Eighth street, was presented with a fine helmet and coat last night by the members of his old company and those of companies No. 18 and 32 which have headquarters under the same roof. The presentation took place in the main room of engine house No. 19, and was attended by all of the men of the three companies not on duty, by Director of Public Safety Ridgway and Chief Miles Humphreys, the latter making the principal address.

The affair was planned as a surprise and so quiet was the matter kept that Chief Connelly knew nothing of it until he walked into the room where the men were assembled. Even then he did not realize what was doing. He could scarcely find words to express the appreciation he felt.

Light refreshments were served after the speech-making and then an informal program was rendered, consisting of music by a band from the South Side and songs by J. Staley, Capt. McCondrew of No. 32, Teddy McGuire and others.

Chief Connelly was appointed to the department in 1889, being then attached to truck A. He advanced from ladderman on up through the various positions until about eight years ago when he became captain of No. 19. During his long service, he has made an enviable record for himself for efficiency and bravery. In the Hotel Richelieu fire several years ago, he did especially valiant service, saving several lives. His personal popularity with the men under him was well expressed by their action last night. He has been acting chief for the last three years so that he is already familiar with the duties of his new office. Capt. Bartley Cavley, of chemical company No. 1, succeeds him at No. 19.

DEATH COMES TO HONORED SOLDIER AND GUAROSMAN

Col. James L. Graham, Veteran of Two Wars, Expires Suddenly at Home in Chartiers Township.

Col. James L. Graham, aged 64, a veteran of two wars, prominent in national guard circles and for many years deputy internal revenue collecter for the Pittsburgh district, died Monday night at his home in Chartiers township. He had been seriously ill for a little over a week of inflammatory rheumatism and stomach trouble. His death was due to an internal hemorrhage.

Col. Graham was born in Chartiers township. When the civil war broke out he enlisted and served about two years, attaining the rank of lieutenant. He returned to Chartiers township where he formed a company and was made captain. In command of this, he served the last year of the war and was engaged in a number of the great battles. In 1876 Col. Graham organized Company G of the Fourteenth regiment N. G. P., recruiting his men from Chartiers township and Elliott borough. He was promoted to major and then to Lieutenant colonel. He served with the guard all through the Pittsburgh riots of 1877 and during the Scranton trouble later in the same year. He was also in the service during the Homestead riots. When the war with Spain was declared Col. Graham was early to enlist in the volunteer service with the members of the Fourteenth regiment. He was detailed first to Fort Mott, Del., and was later given full charge of Fort Delaware on an island opposite Fort Mott. He was stationed at Sommerville, N. C., when peace was declared.

After the close of the civil war, Col. Graham entered the internal revenue service in the Pittsburgh district as storekeeper and gauger. He became deputy collecter 30 years ago and held that office at the time of his death. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity and the Royal Arcanum and of the Methodist Episcopal church. Col. Graham is survived by his widow and three children, Frank of Wilkinsburg, Glen of Crafton and Miss Carrie Graham at home.

MONEY AND MATRIMONY

The story that appeared in a Pittsburgh paper the other day of a young man who did not get married because he did not have sufficient money to pay the clergyman's fee, recalls numerous other incidents of a similar character.

Practical people often remark that a man is a fool to get married until he is earning sufficient money to keep a wife properly. And there are others even more extreme in their remarks who contend that no man has any business getting married until he has a snug sum laid away in bank. The fact is, however, that if every man waited until he had a bank account, few would get married at all.

Every day there are dozens of couples who shake hands over the knowledge they had gained regarding Friend's system for supplying furniture and carpets on credit. For this system has been the means of furnishing more cozy homes than has anything else known to business. Any couple, no matter how limited the young man's income, can get the right sort of start at this establishment. The goods may be selected before the marriage ceremony, if desired, or they may be had at any time afterward. They will be delivered when and where the couple wish and the payments in every case may be made to suit the convenience of the purchaser.

It would do your heart good to see the parlor outfit which Friend supplies for $42.50. This outfit is complete in all details and includes a pretty carpet in addition to the furniture. Then there is the dining room outfit at $32.50, consisting of sideboard, table, chairs, etc., and carpet.

The complete bedroom furnishment at $47.50 includes a bedroom suit, one rocker, two chairs, an elastic spring mattress, one pair of pillows or bolster and 20 yards of carpet or matting. The kitchen is always an important room, and its equipment should be up-to-date. Friend supplies an excellent kitchen outfit at $23.50, comprising one modern stove, one kitchen table, two good kitchen chairs, 20 yards of serviceable oilcloth and a complete set of kitchen utensils.

The terms of credit for any of these outfits are practically what the customer wishes to make them. It's up to you. Friend trusts everybody. Open an account. Don't put it off till pay day, but come right down to the big store at 810 to 814 Penn avenue.

CORONER REPORTS DEAD AT 1,000

Exact Number Will Never Be Known—Gen. Greely Reports List So Far as Gathered.

RETURNS ARE INCOMPLETE

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—Coroner William Walsh estimates that the total number of dead will not be less than 1,000. His reports are complete and his estimate is made up from all the data he has been able to collect. Coroner Walsh said:

Bodies that the deputy coroners have found and buried number 300, as follows: At Polk and Bay streets 32, at Portsmouth Square 23, at Washington Square 12, at the Six Mile house 50, at Laurel Hill 25, scattered in different parts of the city 10. No thorough search has been made of the districts south of Market or the Chinese quarter. Many lives must have been lost in these sections. South of Market street are the cheap lodging houses and many of these collapsed from the earthquake. There is little chance that half of the inmates of the collapsed buildings had opportunity to escape. This also is true of Chinatown.

Shortly after the earthquake soldiers and police ac I have been told, buried bodies found along the water front. I have received no official report of this. The total number of dead will undoubtedly reach, if it does not exceed, 1,000.

The bodies buried in Portsmouth and Washington Squares and near the corner of Bay and Polk streets, will be exhumed and an attempt made to identify them before reburial in the cemeteries.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 24.—Gen. Greely's estimate of the number of dead reported to the war department is made much smaller than that of Coroner Walsh. In the first report received from Gen. Greely today he said 277 will cover the fatalities.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC TO PERFORM GREAT WORK

Will Build Temporary Tracks Through Heart of San Francisco and Remove Debris.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—As a welcome relief to the officials and citizens of San Francisco is the announcement that the Southern Pacific railway will build a track through the heart of the devastated city from Harrison street to the bay and run their flat cars in for the wreckage that must be removed before new buildings can arise and normal conditions be restored.

In this great work between 3,000 and 4,000 men will be employed. The railroad will carry the debris wherever the authorities want it taken. An application will be made immediately to the supervisors of San Francisco for a franchise for this truck. The rails will perhaps be laid along the lines of least resistance and under the express stipulation that they shall be removed as soon as the work of clearing away the wreckage of earthquake and fire has been completed.

E. H. Harriman, president of the Southern Pacific company, is here to inaugurate the work and see it faithfully performed. If the suggestion of the railroad men meets with favor at the hands of the city officials. At the meeting of bankers today Mr. Harriman said he would do all in his power for the rebuilding of San Francisco and the preservation of the city's good name. His remarks to the bankers bolstered up their hopes and gave them new courage by contradicting the rumors that his railroad interests would all be removed to Oakland.

NEGRO GHOUL IS SHOT.

White Man Entering His Own Home Is Instantly Killed By a Soldier.

SALT LAKE CITY, April 24.—John Cashnear, an old soldier from Spearfish, S. D., saw the military shoot a negro who had been robbing the corpse of a woman and to get a ring from her swollen finger, cut the finger off.

"The sentry on duty near Van Ness avenue," added Mr. Cashnear, "ordered a friend of mine who was entering his home to come out as there was about to be dynamited. My friend waved his hand back toward the soldier, saying: 'This is my house and I have a right to go in.' The soldier instantly killed him."

NO CAR FARE IS NEEDED

United Railroads Opens Lines and Carries People and Baggage Free of Charge.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—Within 24 hours four street car lines will be in operation in the city and the streets of two extensive districts will be lighted by electricity. The United Railroads declare that lines are safe for operation.

The United Railroads has tendered the use of its entire system to Mayor Schmitz for the benefit of the people during the present crisis. Free transportation will be furnished over the lines of the company for persons and baggage.

French Consul Is Among the Missing.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—No trace of Count De la Rocca, the French consul in this city, has yet been found. It is feared that he has lost his life in the fire.

FIFTH DISTRICT MINERS WON'T SIGN COMPROMISE

WHEELING, W. VA., April 24.—(Special.)—The miners of the Fifth Ohio subdistrict against the advice of many of their leading members refused today to accept the compromise proposition offered by the Lorain Coal and Dock Company yesterday. They agreed to modify some demands made over the scale of 1903, but decided to stand pat on the 1903 scale for this district. The strike will be continued and headquarters will be established at Bridgeport, O., which is the home of the national vice president, T. L. Lewis.

Scale Committee Adjourns.

CLEARFIELD, PA., April 24.—(Special.)—The adjourned meeting of the joint scale committee of miners and operators of this district which convened here today failed to accomplish anything looking toward an agreement and adjourned to meet again tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock.

APPLYING HERO FUND DONATION

Word from Santa Barbara States That Steamer Sailed With Supplies Last Night.

BENEFITS PROMISE MUCH AID

Word was received from Santa Barbara, California, yesterday afternoon announcing that the telegrams from Chairman Charles L. Taylor of the Carnegie Hero fund to H. F. R. Vall, cashier of a bank in that place, and Lawrence Phipps, had been received. This message authorized them to send a boatload of supplies to San Francisco. The message received here stated that Gov. Pardee had given the information that cots, bedding and cloining were most needed, the steamer State of California had been chartered and the second contribution of the Hero fund, amounting to $25,000, would be applied to shipping such supplies last night.

Boxes and seats for the benefit to be given in the Nixon theater Friday afternoon will be offered at auction on the floor of the Pittsburgh Stock exchange at the close of business today. Members of the "Princess Chap" company, playing at the Belasco sold many tickets among the bankers and brokers yesterday, while chorus girls from the "Funny Mr. Dooley" company playing at the Empire will sell tickets on the streets today. A big benefit matinee will be given in the Grand Opera house Friday night, while a sacred concert for the benefit of the fund will be given in the Empire theater Sunday night.

The Salvation Army yesterday increased its number of contribution boxes on the streets and reported last night that receipts had been exceptionally good. The Union National bank, Bank of Pittsburgh, N. A., and Diamond National bank are receiving contributions on behalf of the Red Cross society.

The Rev. Dr. J. M. Sands, treasurer of the fund being raised by United Presbyterian congregations in this vicinity to aid congregations of the denomination in San Francisco, reported yesterday that his receipts to date were $1,088 04, with nearly 100 congregations yet to hear from.

Burgess J. E. Little of Braddock, in accord with a resolution passed at a public meeting, appointed committees yesterday to canvass each ward in the borough for contributions to the relief fund, and similar action will be taken in Rankin and North Braddock. In McKeesport $2,000 has been raised and the fund in that place is expected to reach $5,000.

At a regular meeting of the Engineers' Society of Western Pennsylvania, held last night, Secretary F. V. McMullin announced that he had received several applications from draughtsmen, including some women, who expressed a desire to go to San Francisco in answer to Mayor Schmitz's appeal for architects, providing transportation was provided.

Mayor Kirschler of Allegheny yesterday signed the councilmanic resolution appropriating $2,500 for the California earthquake sufferers. Controller James Brown told the mayor he would not issue the warrant before consulting his attorney, as he doubted his right to give the money. Besides, there was no money in the contingent fund and was no other fund from which the money could legally be taken.

DOGS FIND CORPSES NOT KNOWN TO EXIST

Grewsome Scenes Which Will Likely Result in Increase of Estimate of the Dead.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—One of the grewsome scenes that has followed the fire was that witnessed on Telegraph and Russian hills and along the entire north beach front of the city this morning when scores of half-starved dogs were found eating human bodies.

In response to the appeal that something be done, blue jackets were detailed to kill all dogs found in these vicinities. All the morning rifle reports could be heard on the hillside and along the beach as the dogs were killed. Men were pressed into service either to bury the carcasses of the dogs or throw them into the bay. In a few places smoldering fires were found and there it was possible to cremate the animals.

It was not believed there were so many dead in the ruins of Telegraph and Russian hills until the dogs were found there digging for the bodies. When the dogs have all been run down and slain a further search will be made of those sections to obtain the bodies and bury them as soon as possible.

THREE MEN ARE SHOT TO END AWFUL MISERY

Soldier Kills Policeman Who Will Not Obey His Orders—Woman Dies of Fright and Thirst.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SALT LAKE CITY, April 24.—That three men were shot to death on a blazing roof in San Francisco to keep them from being burned alive is solemnly asserted by Max Fast, a garment worker, who came here yesterday.

"When the fire caught the Windsor hotel at Fifth and Market streets," said Fast, "there were three men on the roof and it was impossible to get them down. Rather than see the crazed men fall in with the roof and be roasted alive the military officer directed his men to shoot them which they did in the presence of 5,000 people. I saw great stones fall on three men near the city hall, crushing the life out of them. In Union Square I stood beside a woman who died actually from fright and thirst. Her last request was for water and we had none to give her.

"At Jefferson Square I saw a fatal clash between the military and the police. A policeman ordered a soldier to take up a dead body to put in the wagon and the soldier ordered the policeman to do it. Words followed and the soldier shot the policeman dead."

LIAR AND THIEF MEETS DEATH

Troops Shoot Down Man Who Declares Corpse Is That of His Mother Only to Rob It.

SALT LAKE CITY, April 24.—Willis Ames, a Salt Lake City man, who was in San Francisco, says:

"While I was walking about the streets I saw man after man shot down by the troops. Most of these were ghouls. One man made the trooper believe one of the dead bodies was his mother and was permitted to go up to the body. Apparently overcome by grief, he threw himself across the corpse. In another instant the soldiers discovered that he was chewing the diamond earrings from the ears of the dead woman. 'Here is where you get what is coming to you,' said one of the soldiers, and with that he put a bullet through the ghoul. The diamonds were found in the man's mouth."

MAYOR GUTHRIE SEES STEWART

City Executive and District Attorney Will Work Together in Prosecuting Syndicate.

HIRSCH PROMISES ACTION

Mayor Guthrie and District Attorney Stewart conferred yesterday about the prosecution of those concerned in the vice traffic. Maj. Stewart says he is ready to do his part in the purification of Pittsburgh. While he does not care to discuss his plans, action is promised within a short time. Mayor Guthrie brought the district attorney into the crusade by a statement issued yesterday afternoon. After reading the interview Maj. Stewart conferred with the executive. He said as he left city hall that he and the mayor were in perfect accord.

"The statement issued by Mayor Guthrie was entirely proper," said the district attorney. "While I did not call to discuss the matter with him, the mayor brought it up during our conversation. I will do everything within my power to punish wrongdoers. Just what I intend to do will be learned at the proper time."

While the mayor and district attorney are discussing the criminal prosecution, members of councils are planning to impeach lawmakers who are guilty of participating in the profits of the vice syndicate or those who have been collecting graft from market house stall keepers.

Hirsch Promises Action.

Louis Hirsch, one of the Republican members of common council from the Twentieth ward, is determined to drive the wrongdoers from councils.

"The impeachment proceedings," said he last night, "should originate with the presidents of councils. I have been unable to see President Brand, but will do so. Something should and will be done. There will be a meeting of the public safety committee tomorrow, and I am of the opinion some action will then be taken."

Select Councilman Stevenson of the Fourteenth ward is also anxious to have the membership purged. He has been studying the laws relative to impeachment proceedings and will be heard from later.

This statement was dictated by Mayor Guthrie yesterday:

The recent editorials in relation to the action of the department of public safety on Saturday night calls for a statement of the relations of the department to the enforcement of the law. The department of public safety and the police magistrates are charged with the preservation of order and the enforcement of the ordinances of the city.

District Attorney Responsible.

The responsibility for the enforcement of the criminal law of the state rests with the district attorney's office and the court of quarter sessions court and the purging of councils from improper members rests with those bodies.

The traffic with vice and the names of the parties concerned in it was a matter of public notoriety for a long time before this raid. The parties concerned in it were so well known that one of the papers of the city did not hesitate to editorially refer to them by name and condemn their appointment on the committee of public safety of councils. The votes of these men, however, were needed in the organization of councils, against the policy of the city administration for which the people had declared and they were placed upon the committee, which was supposed to give them power and influence over police action.

It is true, as the papers have said, that until the men connected in this infamous business have been fully punished, justice has not been done.

The executive department of the city will proceed to the end in the performance of its duty. Let the officials charged with other duties to the people perform it, or be held to fill the responsibility for their neglect.

The evidence collected by the department of public safety is entirely at the disposal of the district attorney's office and of councils.

Will Furnish Evidence.

We can arrest these people, drag them through the streets to the police stations and fine them, but our work ends then. It is for the district attorney's office to take the next steps by instituting prosecutions against all concerned in this despicable traffic. The district attorney should by all means go after the men involved. The department of public safety will gladly furnish him with all the information obtained that might help him. This is the only way to stamp out this evil. The district attorney ought to bring bills before the grand jury against every person involved.

The mayor was asked regarding the procedure of councils and replied:

Councils are a coordinate branch of the city government and I do not propose to say that they should purge themselves, but they could do it. There is no doubt on that subject. I can cite one instance now of action once taken by the legislature, when a member from Fayette county was thrown out of the legislature as unfit to be a member.

The mayor made reference to the case against Select Councilman Edwards of the Second ward, for endeavoring to secure official ballots from the office of the county commissioners just before the November election. It develops the grand jury ignored the bill against Edwards. District Attorney Stewart says this was done because it could not be shown that Edwards offered any money or other valuable thing for the tickets.

Walters Answers Guthrie.

President Walters of select council, denies the charge of Mayor Guthrie that councilmen alleged to be concerned in the vice traffic were appointed on the public safety committee because their votes were needed in the organization of councils against the policy of the administration and to give them power and influence over police action. He said:

Director Clark offered these same men appointments to the public safety committee if they would support Dr. Burns for president against me. What could they hope to gain from us? We are not the administration, and had no privileges to trade for votes in the organization of councils. We could give them nothing, but the administration could give them everything. They were appointed on the public safety committee because they requested to be put on it, and some were on the committee before, and because they were offered the same appointments if they would vote with the administration. They were offered not only any committee appointments they wanted, but patronage and other favors from the administration. It is ridiculous to say that five men can control a committee composed of 23 members. The members of the public safety committee are not all grafters as the mayor insinuates. Why has he raised all this fuss about a committee the majority of which are respectable, law-abiding men? The committee could not if it would, and has shown no disposition to do anything not in accord with the administration.

MOXEY CAN'T BE HERE.

Therefore Enterprise Bank Criminal Suits Will Come Up in October Term.

The trial of the cases growing out of the Enterprise bank failure will have to go over to the October term of court. The necessary absence of Edward P. Moxey, the bank examiner who worked up the evidence, will compel District Attorney Dunkle to postpone the trials.

Moxey has been called to Asheville, N. C., to investigate some bank matters. He will be kept busy for a month. He will appear in May before the grand jury on the Enterprise bank cases and will then go back to his work.

MORE EVIDENCE CONCERNING VICE

Sensational Testimony Given by Women Whose Houses Were Raided on Saturday.

NAMES OF PROPERTY OWNERS

Two proprietresses who were not at their houses when the police raided them Saturday night were given hearings yesterday by Magistrate Kirby. May Bennett of 438 Third avenue admitted keeping a disorderly house and said she pays $125 a month rent. She said the rent was paid to Terrence C. J. Daly of 124 Fourth avenue. Three years ago she paid only $45 a month for the house.

In addition to this rent the Bennett woman said she pays Daly $300 a year for getting her the lease. She testified Daly knew the character of her house and that she paid him well for everything he did for her. Three years ago, Jesse Pavey, a former city detective, secured the lease over her head from Daly. She had to pay Pavey $1,000 to get possession of it again. This money, she testified, was split three ways. Pavey, Daly and a third person getting it. Pavey is now living in Akron, O. The Bennett woman said she bought all her beer from J. J. Sweeney, 500 Second avenue. She got the last consignment last week. She paid $1 a case for it when she bought it off Sweeney's beer wagons. When she purchased it at the store it cost her 10 cents extra to have it delivered.

The woman also informed the magistrate that Daly, Pavey and others secured leases on houses in Third avenue and rented them to women at exorbitant prices. The woman was discharged.

Frances Gannon, who conducted a disorderly house at 509 Fourth avenue, said she paid $65 a month for her place, which was worth $15. She bought her beer from Sweeney.

Owners and real estate agents who rent houses to women for resorts are to be prosecuted. The clerks in the assessors' office yesterday made a list of the owners of the houses raided Saturday night. This list was handed to Superintendent McQualide, who instructed Inspector Robinson to make information against these property owners.

According to the books of the city assessors the houses in the second ward that were raided by the police last Saturday night, are owned as follows:

Rose Frauenheim, 208 Grant street.
Eliza Weaver, 212 Grant street.
G. W. and A. C. McCallam, 424, 426 and 428 Third avenue, corner of Cherry alley.

UPHOLD COMMISSION.

Central Board of Education Declares Its Right to Regulate Teachers' Salaries.

Charles Reispar, Jr., secretary of the Central board of education, filed answer yesterday to the bill in equity of James W. Houston to determine the right of the board to maintain the teachers' salary commission. It is averred the board has the right to regulate salaries according to the teacher's proficiency and that the commission was legally constituted within the powers of the board. It is held that while appeals may not have been heard and orders kept secret, it was done to avoid importunities, and to make the records public would be detrimental to the service and may injure some teachers. It is declared the system is successful and beneficial, and that there is no necessity for interference with the commission's work. It is denied the board has relinquished supervision over the commission, and admitting some complaints have been made, it is said they were groundless. The board, however, will receive all complaints and, if justified, will interfere. It is denied also that the expenses of the commission cannot be legally paid, or that a majority of the teachers are dissatisfied or opposed to its continuance, and it is averred the experience with the commission has shown it to be of great benefit to both teachers and scholars.

A charter for the Pittsburgh Teachers' association was obtained from Judge Young yesterday by Attorney Frank Patterson.

WANT PASTOR TO RESIGN.

Some Members of Gladden Church Object to Work of Dr. Cleland Among Foreigners.

Because they claim the pastor, the Rev. Dr. D. M. Cleland, devotes too much of his time to the industrial school at Trevaskyn, Pa., established by him, and also because they oppose his introduction of institutional work among the children of foreigners, about one-third of the members of the United Presbyterian church at Gladen, Pa., have demanded his resignation.

Dr. Cleland will not comply with the request of the petitioners and says the other members of the church have rallied solidly to his support and have agreed to make up any deficiency in the finances of the fiscal year. He also says when he went to Gladden church four years ago, it was the distinct understanding that he should have a portion of his time to devote to his work among the foreigners. The matter will come before the next meeting of the Monongahela presbytery.

Grand Jury Returns.

The grand jury returned the following true bills: Larceny—Isabella Arnold, Charles Goetz, Mike Jacokovic, Mike Kolinich, George Laughlin, Van Lynn, James Maloney (3), John Nixon, Joseph Plaza, George Perkins, Joseph Ready, A. D. Shields, John Schenck, John Welsh, John Williams; assault and battery, Joe Bulosky, Tom Doyle; entering a freight car, John Williams; misdemeanor, George Brown, Margaret Bailey, Harry Hecker; felony, John Hagerty; burglary, Harry Meeran; receiving stolen goods, Morris Cohen, John Haugh; felonious assault and battery, Beglah Derrett, Arthur Mountyouse; carrying concealed weapons, Archie James, Peter Morgan, Stanhope Miller, Minno Rocco, Joe Rukowitch; larceny by bailee, Charles F. Murphy, Susan Nelson; entering a building, Martin Haines, Ernesto Santarro; perjury, P. O'Connor; malicious mischief, A. D. Shields.

Bigelow on Henry George.

In the Knoxville Presbyterian church next Friday evening, the Rev. Herbert S. Bigelow of Cincinnati will deliver a free lecture on "Henry George and His Economic Philosophy," under the auspices of the Men's club of that church. Mr. Bigelow is one of Ohio's leaders in the reform movement and is a staunch advocate of the Henry George theories.

THE MARATHON MYSTERY

By BURTON E. STEVENSON,

Author of "The Holladay Case," "Cadets of Gascony," Etc.

Copyright, 1904, by Henry Holt & Co.

"Oh, ou jololli, out! Oh, thou art pretty, pretty, Fe-Fe! Pa kâ fai moin pe! I do not fear her, nos at all!" Fe-Fe is the work of the good God. Travaill Bon-Die joli?—Is she not pretty?"

Gradually we had drawn nearer, Tremaine and I, and I felt myself yielding to the fascination of the song, even as the serpent did. It was not very large, nor seemingly very formidable, so I did not even think of fear when Cecily opened the little door of the cage and drew it forth. She held it between thumb and finger just behind the head, and by a slight pressure she forced its jaws apart. Then she poured the wine down its throat, drop by drop. Finally she returned it to its cage and shut the door.

When it was over and she was lying again on the couch, panting with a kind of fearful exhaustion, I turned to Tremaine, who was mopping his forehead feverishly.

"I've got a kind of superstitious horror of that snake," he said apologetically, as he met my eyes. "I've seen a lot of them, but none ever affected me just as this one does."

"What is it?" I asked, astonished by his pallor, by the trembling of his hand as he put away his handkerchief and reached for a cigarette. He lighted it before he answered, inviting me by a gesture to help myself.

"It's a fer-de-lance," he said, at last; "one of the deadliest serpents in the world—and this particular variety is said to be especially deadly—a sort of creme de la creme, as it were. Its bite kills a man in three minutes, if it happens to strike an artery—it does more than that—it turns him to a swollen, rotten piece of carrion—I've seen it," and he leaned back to blow a ring toward the ceiling.

I sat, petrified, with my cigarette halfway to my mouth.

"A fer-de-lance!" I faltered, at last, with a horrified glance at the figure on the couch.

"Oh, it's safe enough, I guess," he added. She's had it for years and it has never attempted to harm her. Perhaps it has lost its poison."

"Still," I said, "it's a risk. I shouldn't think you'd permit it."

"Permit it?" he repeated. "Oh!" and he shrugged his shoulders with a gesture of impotence impossible to describe.

CHAPTER III.

A Break in a Circle.

My acquaintance with the Tremaines, in the weeks that followed, grew by imperceptible degrees into an intimacy which was one of the most pleasant of my life. Of Cecily I have already attempted to give some idea, although I realize how cold and inadequate it is. As I began to know her better, I came to wonder more and more at her complexity, her simplicity, her swift changes of mood, her utter ignorance of social convention. Another thing I saw, and that was her absolute worship of Tremaine. I question if he fully understood its strength; he had grown, in a way, accustomed to it; but to a stranger, an outsider, it was startlingly apparent. I say startlingly, because one was vaguely conscious of unsounded, threatening depths beneath that sweet exterior, which promised I know not what of passion and tragedy, should they be rudely stirred.

As for Tremaine, I hesitate to say how utterly I fell under his spell. Yet this was not in the least to be wondered at. My life had been, on the whole, so narrow, and his had been so broad; my experience of the world had been cast in the usual grooves, while his had so evidently overleaped them, had struck out a path for itself into all sorts of unexpected places. Why he so exerted himself to charm and conquer me I do not yet fully understand—perhaps it was the mere delight in power, in the exercise of his dazzling faculties; or perhaps it was that he had leisure, that his mind was not yet engrossed in the game on which he staked so much.

I have said that his life had been cast in many curious places. Martinique was only the last of these, the most recent, and I gathered that the business which brought him to New York was the forming of a syndicate to build a railroad through the island. Through is the right word, for it was evident that, owing to the island's peculiar formation, there would have to be much tunnelling. But he waived all such practical difficulties aside and discoursed of the great future before such a road with an enthusiasm that was absolutely convincing.

I remember one evening he got fairly started upon this hobby of his and talked uninterruptedly for at least an hour—facts, details, descriptions at his fingers-ends. Cecily, chin in hands, listened intently to every word, and I, with the remembrance of that evening still fresh upon me, can understand how he won the ear of even Wall street's suspicious denizens. And, indeed, it was a wonderful prospectus which he painted—broad sugar plantations with no market, the whole traffic of the island carried upon the heads of women; the great sand-heaps of the east coast 90 per cent pure steel, waiting only for development, but worthless now because no ship can approach them—and I know not what beside, but all of which, I have no doubt, was substantially true.

Perhaps I am lingering unduly over this portrait of Tremaine, but I have never met his equal for daring, for audacity, for personal magnetism. In the days that followed, I was to see less and less of him, but the memory of those first evenings is a living and vivid one. I can see him sitting there yet before me with his wonderful eyes, his expressive face, his lithe, graceful form and his slim, white nervous hand holding his cigarette. I found myself speculating sometimes as to his nationality. French he seemed unquestionably by temperament, and yet he spoke English with a facility and carelessness unusual in a foreigner. I was often tempted to ask him, straight out, but a feeling of hesitation always held me back. I came at last to the conclusion that he was of French parentage, but had lived in England or America probably from his youth.

I had just come in from dinner one evening and was settling down to a perusal of "L'Affaire Lerouge," when there came a knock at the door and Tremaine entered. He was in evening dress and was seemingly much perturbed.

"My dear Lester," he began abruptly, in that quick, nervous way of his, "I'm in the deuce of a box, and I'm going to ask you to help me out. I promised Cecily to take her tonight to see the extravaganza at the New York and have the seats here, but at the last moment I find I can't get away. I've a business engagement that I can't afford to break, but Cecily will never forgive me if I disappoint her. Have you anything on for tonight?"

"No," I answered, looking at him in some astonishment, for it was evident what was coming.

"Then perhaps you wouldn't mind taking Cecily? It would be a tremendous favor."

"Not at all," I assured him, "but——"

"It isn't quite conventionable," he finished, as I hesitated. "Surely, we don't need to stand on ceremony, and Cecily doesn't care a hang for convention. It's a great favor to both of us. She'll cry her eyes out if she has to stay at home, and I simply can't take her."

"Very well," I said, "I'll be glad to take her," and thanking me again, he hurried away.

She was dressed and waiting for me when I knocked at her door, and she caught me by both hands as I entered.

"This is good of you!" she cried. "Doudoux has been so busy for many days that we have gone nowhere; but he promised me tonight. Oh, I should not have stayed at home! I should have gone alone! I care not for the eyes of the men!"

"Oh, I shan't let you go alone!" I protested, and watched her, fascinated, as she put on a little bonnet and gave her hair two or three final pats before the mirror.

She was in the highest spirits, singing to herself—really, I told myself, only a child—and at last she swung around and dropped me a courtesy.

"How is that, che?" she cried, smiling up at me. "Does that please you?"

"Charming!" I cried, gasping a little, with a feeling of giddiness, as I looked down into her eyes.

Then, in a moment," and turning, she struck a match and touched it to a wick floating on olive oil in a tiny glass before an image of the Virgin, which hung in a little chappelle against the wall. She made a genuflection and turned back to me. "Now I am ready," she said, and tucked her hand confidingly under my arm.

"What is the light for, Cecily?" I asked, as we left the room.

"Oh," she explained, "c'est lime lampe ou pou fai la Vierge passe dans cale-ou. Now the Virgin will watch over me while I am away. But you are a Protestant. You do not care for the Virgin."

She looked at me reproachfully, with a little sigh because I must be damned.

"But Tremaine—is he not also a Protestant?" I asked.

"Oh, no," she answered, shaking her head. Certainly not—not at all. He even at one time thought of becoming a priest."

"A priest!" I repeated, astonished. Here was news, indeed, and I was so absorbed in it that I did not resent Higgins' stare of astonishment as we went down together in the elevator. Tremaine a priest! Yet, why not? No doubt he would have made a most successful one—an ideal Jesuit, for example, rising to a high place.

"Then why did he not become one?" I questioned, when we were seated in our cab and bowling along toward Broadway. A sudden fever of eagerness to probe into Tremaine's past took possession of me.

"I do not know," she answered; then she looked at me with a sudden quizzical narrowing of the eyes. "Perhaps he found the vows of a repugnance."

We swung around into Broadway, ablaze with light, and Cecily forgot me in the excitement of watching the changing crowd, the brilliant shop-fronts.

"Here we are," I said, as the cab drew up at the curb, and sprang out and helped her down.

GAMES TODAY.

Pittsburgh at Chicago, St. Louis at Cincinnati, Brooklyn at New York, Philadelphia at Boston.

CHICAGO, ILL., April 24.—(Special.)—Wild and stormy was the weather at the West Side ball park today, the brand of weather most favored by rovers of the main. In such a day the wild-eyed Pittsburgh Pirates make the meek Colts walk the plank. The score was 6 to 3. Almost anything might have happened with the score tied at three all in the ninth, had not Tinker fumbled Clarke's grass cutter down by short. But he did so, and Pittsburgh sent over three more runs and broke up the game.

If the contest was anything it was a slugfest. Three-fingered Brown was touched up for 13 safe ones and the Colts found Leifield for eight. Every Pirate except Peitz improved his batting average, and Wagner laced out three singles for his day's work, besides doing some hit killing around short. He tripped up once, however, on Evers' scorching grounder, and this mistake later resulted in a tally.

The Pirates got in their first score in the third. Ritchey punched a clean single over in left garden, but was knocked down when Peitz hit a little grounder to Brown. Leifield walked and Peitz came in when Clymer dropped a pretty single in center.

Peitz was left in the fifth, but Leifield planted the ball in the short grass in left. Clymer fanned, but Ganley swiped at the inshoot Brown sent him and the ball stopped rolling only when Schulte landed on it. As a result Leifield was on third and Ganley on first. Then was worked a play that took the breath out of the fans. Ganley started to steal second and Kling threw to Tinker, hoping to coax Leifield off third. It did all right, but the finish was not as expected. When the smoke cleared away Leifield was home with a tally and Ganley was perched safely on second.

Pittsburgh also got one in the sixth as a result of Wagner's single, a sacrifice by Nealon, a stolen base by Hans and an error by Kling at the plate.

The Colts got a little start in their part of the same inning. Evers reached first on Wagner's error, took second on a passed ball. Hofman made an error which assisted Evers to reach third, and he came in on the bounce when Wagner threw Kling out at first.

Slagle, after Brown fanned, made a single and went to second on Ganley's situp. He flung to third on Sheckard's infield hit and scored when Schulte gave up one of his registered singles.

In the eighth Slagle wrung out a double, which was a be it, by the way, and scampered to third when Sheckard made a single again. Schulte rapped out a bunder which Leach trifled with. The said skip was fatal, as it enabled Slagle to see daylight at home. The score was now a tie.

Leifield smote the ozone thrice. Clymer then made a single, but it looked as though it was about all off when Ganley died on a pop-up to Evers. Right at this point Tinker exploded on Clarke's grounder. Clymer scored on Wagner's bingle and Nealon brought in Clarke and Wagner on his own one-sacker to left field. Leach fanned and the slaughter was over. Chicago made an effort to start something in its share of the ninth, but failed. Score:

BIG ASHER SALE.

All Previous Records Broken—The Two Day's Amount to 761.

The sale begun Monday at the Asher Horse and Mule Company promises to be the largest ever held in Pittsburgh. Yesterday 417 head were sold, making the sales of the week so far reach 761. The prices received range from $106 a head to $250. Something like 1,500 head will be sold altogether.

The horses so far sold are those for general purpose and cheap drivers. The catalogue sale begins today when high-class driving horses, speed and matinee stock will be offered. The sale under electric light tonight promises to be a hummer.

Horsemen seem to be here for the sale from all over the country. J. F. Doyle of New York, took away three head for which he paid $2,250.

PITTSBURGH H. S. IN STRONG FINISH

Two Long Hits in Ninth Inning Causes Defeat of Wilkinsburg by 7 to 5.

ROSS' ABSENCE IS FELT

Pittsburgh High School and Wilkinsburg High School both fought hard for yesterday's game at Friendship park, but Coach Wentz's hopefuls responded with a strong finish, scoring two runs in the ninth and winning, 7 to 5.

The teams were tied in the seventh, but with one man on in the ninth Ray Robinson gave the ball a ride to left middle for three bases and he scored on a two bagger, the latter of the fluky kind. This was enough to win, as Wilkinsburg failed to get but one man on the circuit in the ninth.

Garrison, a colored chap, pitched for Pittsburgh, and he did fairly well. Hersh Morrison twirled a good game, but he was handicapped. Dunn, Ross, the first baseman, was not in the game, and Capt. Dipple played first. This move weakened the outfield, which did not play up to its form. Poor judgment in fielding hits and misjudging flies gave Pittsburgh four runs.

Beagle, the Pittsburgh middlefielder, made two pretty running catches of high flies over towards the bleachers. Three men were on the bases with two out on each occasion. In the eighth inning with two out and three on, Robinson collected a "Texas League" from Beam that prevented trouble. Bein made a pretty catch of a foul fly from Watterson in the first inning. EAST LIVERPOOL IS WINNER

Defeats the Pittsburgh Lyceum Team in the First Series of Duck Pin Games.

LATEST NEWS OF THE ALLEYS

The Wylie avenue alleys were crowded last night by duckpin enthusiasts to witness the match between the Pittsburgh Lyceums and the Crescents of East Liverpool, for $100 a side. The Lyceum players were defeated two out of three games, and in total pins by 46. Most of the Lyceum players were over-anxious and persisted in hitting the head pin and slipping through, which most all duckpin bowlers will understand. The second series will be played at East Liverpool next Tuesday night, and it is expected that the Lyceums will overcome the handicap.

There is considerable money bet on the result and all the Lyceum players feel confident of returning winners. In last night's contest Devore was the star bowler, with high score of 118, and best average. In fact, he made every possible chance he had. McGrath was the second best bowler for the Lyceums, with Penn and Steinel following closely.

For East Liverpool Smith and Williams were almost tie for high score and average. McDonald and Wells also did creditable work for their team. Scores:

LADY NAVARRE THE WINNER

FINE RACE ALL THE WAY

MEMPHIS, TENN., April 24.—Charles Ellison's good three-year-old filly, Lady Nevarre, won the rich Tennessee Derby in a hard drive down the stretch by a length from M. P. DOG SHOW TODAY DRAWS SOCIETY

Farmington Exhibition at Hotel Schenley Is the Magnet for the Ultra Fashionables.

CUP DONORS AND CLASSES

This is the day for the toy dog show at the Hotel Schenley. The show will open at 10 a. m. and close at 10 p. m. During the noon hour and between 6 and 7 p. m. there will be a recess when dogs may be removed from the building. The diminutives of the dog world will hold court in the ball room of the hotel. The room was decorated by Joseph Horne & Co. this morning after the benching was put in place. The colors of the society, yellow and white, were freely used. A feature of the show is the competition for the Durbin Horne cup offered for the best decorated basket exhibit. Flowers and potted plants are being used.

Voting for the most popular dog in the show will create much interest. A cup for the winner is offered by J. C. Grogun & Co. The sale of voting tickets is in charge of Miss Marjorie Rea. An amusing feature of the show will be the judging of the ugliest dog in the show, for which J. Ramsey Speer has offered a cup.

The judging of the regular classes, for which no less than 18 cups will be in competition, will occupy the morning. In the afternoon the specials will be judged. Six prizes will be in contest. The awards will be made known at night, when the cups will be given and the ribbon winners announced.

Rules for the Dogs.

The dogs will be delivered at 9 o'clock this morning. All the toys will be shown in baskets which the exhibitors will provide. The dogs to be benched must be provided with collars and chains. The exhibitors will be required to care for and feed their own dogs during the day. The Farmington show is for the benefit of the Farmington society. The proceeds will be used in the work of charity conducted by the society the year round. The members are former students of the Farmington school. Smart society is expected to turn out in its full strength. The event is the social affair of the post-Lenten period, and debutantes and young girls home from school for the Lenten recess will be there in numbers.

The judges are Walter Farnhill Render and Dr. J. Stewart Lacock. Dr. Lacock is also the veterinarian. They will be assisted in their work by prominent members of the Duquesne Kennel club. A ring for judging will be partitioned off in the center of the ball room. The management of the show has been in the hands of the ladies themselves and they have worked hard to make it a big success.

In Charge of the Show.

Miss Willa H. Forsyth has been in charge of the entries and she has succeeded in bringing to the show 92. This could have been materially increased if more time could have been had, but the show is big enough for the hotel ball room. Miss Margaret Barr has had charge of the tickets, and sales enough for an exhibition of the kind have almost been made in advance. Miss Gertrude Childs has had charge of the catalogues and the souvenir number is a work of art. The special work of providing cups and trophies was assigned to Mrs. J. H. Ricketson, Jr. In this she had splendid success, for 21 cups were secured, enough for every class besides a number of special prizes. Mrs. J. Ramsey Speer, in charge of decorations; Miss Chalfant, president of the society; Miss S. G. Ricketson, secretary; Mrs. F. S. Willock, treasurer, and Mrs. William C. Robinson have also done some hard and effective work for the success of the show.

Mrs. J. J. Vendergrift, Mrs. Herbert DuPuy, Mrs. D. Herbert Hostetter and Mrs. W. S. Flower have sent handsome donations.

In all 92 dogs have been entered, representing some 28 different breeds. There are 18 regular classes. A cup and four ribbons will be awarded in each class. The classification has been by breeds and where the number of entries would justify it, the breeds have been subdivided by sexes. The miscellaneous class has been divided into small and large dogs.

Prizes and Their Donors.

TRAVELING PRIZE FOR ARCHITECT

NEW PRICES IN ALLEGHENY

The traveling scholarship of $250, recently offered by the Pittsburgh chapter, American Institute of Architects, through the generosity of a local patron of art for the best design for a medium-priced residence for an East End corner, has been won by H. E. Markley, a draughtsman in the office of Architects Billquist & Lee. Thomas Pringle of Architects MacClure & Spahr, won the second prize of $50 cash. Honorable mention was also made of the drawing submitted by William H. King, Jr., of MacClure & Spahr's office, and the design of John E. Kauzor of the force of Architect John T. Comes, was well received. All the draughtsmen mentioned are members of the atelier at the Carnegie Tech schools, and they have been working for three months on this competition, which is the first of its kind ever held in Pittsbrgh.

The committee of award consisted of William B. Scaife and Architects Henry Hornbostel, A. B. Barlow, C. M. Barlberger and C. M. Kopp. Six of the 17 original starters dropped out, so that only 11 sets of drawings were submitted. The drawings are on exhibition this week in the art gallery of Carnegie Institute. The winner of the first prize must spend at least one month traveling in the east making especial study of colonial architecture and must on his return present to the chapter a measured drawing illustrative of some colonial building. Mr. Markley's winning design was of a residence containing not over 43,000 cubic feet and which would cost from $10,000 to $20,000. The competition has been much the most important project that the local chapter ever undertook, and is likely to be followed soon by another, if the necessary funds are forthcoming. Following are the names of the young architects who competed: William P. Hutchins and Stanley Rouch, Beezer Bros.; John H. Phillips, D. A. Croner's office; J. L. Kuhn, R. Maurice Trimble's office; Frederick Giffin, Billquist & Lee; E. P. Bock, Edward Stotz's office, and O. L. Robling of Rutan & Russell.

Big Offer on North Side.

An offer of $4,000 a front foot has been submitted for a well-known property in Federal street, below the Ft. Wayne railroad, and is likely to be accepted this week. This tender may be traced directly to the sale of the Mechany property at Federal and Robinson streets for $160,000, which figured at the rate of $4,210 a front foot. Previous to this sale statements that Federal street property in this locality would bring $4,000 a foot before the year was out, were regarded with incredulity. Now it is apparent that good corner properties are going to sell at very close to that figure, and that some of them are bound to bring a much higher price. If the general business situation keeps as good as at present until the close of the year. A few weeks ago an offer of more than $4,000 a foot was reported for the lot now occupied by Sauer's hotel, on the west side of Federal street, next to the railroad, which is more than double what the property cost Mr. Sauer two years ago.

E. P. Brantwell, representing the Equitable Life Assurance Society, is again in the city for the purpose of placing loans of $2,000,000 on downtown realty. Although not generally known, the Equitable now has over $3,000,000 invested in mortgages on downtown property in Pittsburgh, and it has been taking on new loans rapidly of late. No better assurance could be afforded the skeptical investor than the willingness of such a powerful financial corporation to plant its funds in Pittsburgh real estate.

GEORGE H. SHICKLER.

For several years Mr. Shickler has been one of the most persistent builders in Greater Pittsburgh. His operations in Belmar place, Allegheny, McKees Rocks, Swissvale and the East End, include hundreds of houses and many large flat buildings. A large proportion of these buildings have been sold by Mr. Shickler himself. This summer he is building a score or more of fine houses in Swissvale and two apartment houses in the Fourteenth ward.

Price Was Only $30,000.

It develops that the price paid for the E. D. Strickler holdings at 8010 Center avenue, near South Highland avenue, East End, the sale of which was published last week in The Gazette, was only $30,000, instead of $35,000. According to the deed registered yesterday, the lot is 140x[illegible] feet and was sold through the office of W. M. Cooper.

Through the Aronson Realty Company Mrs. Ida Brooks has sold to M. Courlaff a Syrian merchant, three houses on 25x100 feet, facing in Bedford avenue, near Elm street, Seventh ward, for $11,500. The dwellings are rented for $153 a month.

W. W. Wattles, the Wood street jeweler, has sold to Fanny B. Lowther two large brick houses on 55x121 feet, facing on the east side of Lang avenue, between Homewood avenue and McPherson street, Twenty-first ward, for $12,500. The property is only two squares from Homewood station and was bought for an investment.

Leander Trautman has secured title from Joseph Bennett, Isaac Hollander and Abraham Lewis to 27x104 feet at Forbes and Pride streets, and 27x104 feet, adjoining, in Pride street, for $42,000. The property is improved with old buildings.

Clothier Buys in Forbes Street.

A Smithfield street clothier is the buyer of the Israel Glick lot, 24x131 feet, at 1038 Forbes street, the sale of which for $15,500 was announced yesterday by the Real Estate Trust Company. Two more sales of Forbes street properties were articled for yesterday, but the lots are likely to be resold before the present buyers get the deeds.

It is reported that the John S. Shaffer estate has disposed of the properties at the northeast and northwest corners of Wylie avenue and Trent street, for $37,000. The lots are 69x110 feet and are improved with 12 brick houses, said to be rented for about $5,000 a year.

Allegheny: W. L. Scott & Co. sold for C. C. Hax to Wiliam Latta two houses on 56x136 feet in Woodland avenue, near California avenue, Allegheny, for $2,250.

Summit park: Keck & Heile sold for the Summit Park Land Company to Lyman R. Jackson 200x250 feet in Summit street, Summit park, for $1,500. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a princess gown fashioned of white satin and trimmed in duchesse lace. Falling the full length was a veil of tulle caught with orange blossoms. A bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley was carried and a spray of the lilies formed of diamonds, the gift of the groom, was the only ornament worn. Mrs. Harry M. Edwards, formerly Miss Cornelia G. Smith, the matron of honor, was gowned in white net and carried a large bunch of white lilacs. Miss Eleanor Louise Scott, a small cousin and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Scott, was flower girl. She wore a slip of white and carried a basket of sweet peas. Dr. William B. They will travel by way of Denver & Rio Grande to Stockton, Cal., which they will make their headquarters until they can find a comfortable place in San Francisco. This is not a sudden trip west, but has been contemplated for a couple of months, Dr. and Mrs. Jamison having intended to travel with the Shriners on their annual pilgrimage to Los Angeles, and when that trip was abandoned because of the extent of the disaster caused by the earthquake, the Jamisons kept to their original plan. It is a business trip for Dr. Jamison, who is interested in mining in the west. Mrs. Jamison is well-known in the east through her newspaper work, writing over the name of "Meg." She is a sister of Mrs. Joseph A. O'Neil of Sherman avenue, Allegheny. The Travelers' club met yesterday afternoon with Mrs. John D. Hamilton as leader. "Life in Japan" was the subject of a paper by Mrs. Alfred Clark; "The Cities of Kobe and Nagoya" were described by Mrs. Henry J. Bailey, and Current Events were discussed by Mrs. James M. Drill. Mrs. Drill spoke of President Roosevelt's address to the National Playground association, the School for Truants, the preservation of Niagara Falls and the earthquake in California. Mrs. Macrum told of the great interest manifested by the children in the sewing cines in the mission in Penn avenue and Twenty-fourth street. She said they are now supplied with books from the Carnegie library.

Past and Coming Events.

The Ushers' club of St. Brigid's Roman Catholic church held its first reception and euchre of the season last evening at Kenwood lawn.

The farewell 1905-06 reception of the Ko Bo club was held last evening in the South Highland avenue auditorium.

Under the auspices of the Epworth league of the North Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, Allegheny, R. P. Forsberg will read in dialect, "Marse Chan," one of Thomas Nelson Page's pathetic southern stories, next Friday evening in the lecture room of the church. Mr. Forsberg was born and reared in the south. The admission is free.

Miss Annie Sherwood Rankin of Reading, gave a reading of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" in the Sewickley Baptist church last evening for the benefit of the Young People's society of the church. Tomorrow and Friday evenings of this week the cantata, "Belshazzar" will be given in the Sewickley auditorium by a cast of well-known valley people. There will be 100 singers in the performance. John A. Rosensteel is directing the cantata, which is to be given by the women of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Mr. and Mrs. John Alexander of Westmoreland avenue, Swissvale, celebrated the twentieth anniversary of their wedding last evening by entertaining 20 friends at their home. They received many handsome gifts in china.

Personal Mention.

Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Kennedy Moorhead, who have been in the east since their marriage on Easter Monday in St. Thomas, Ont., arrived last evening to spend a few days with Mr. Moorhead's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Moorhead of St. James street, Shadyside. Prior to her marriage Mrs. Moorhead was Miss Muriel Ermdinger.

Mrs. Benjamin J. Horton, Jr., and daughter of Mayaguez, Porto Rico, and Miss Eva Horton of Lawrence, Kas., are visiting Mrs. Horton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Looke of South St Clair street, East End.

Women and Trade Unions.

Whatever may be ascribed as the reason, it is undoubtedly true that trade unionism among women is far more popular in England than it is in the United States. There was held recently in Holborn Town hall, Holborn, England, a gigantic union meeting of women's trade societies. The speakers were all women and all representatives of various unions, Miss Hope of the Postal Employes, Miss Glenn of the National union of Telephonists, Miss Hodges of the Dressmakers' union, and many others. The most successful women's trade union, if such a term can be used in reference to one composed of men as well as women, is the Textile Trades union of Lancashire and Yorkshire. The majority of the members are women employed in the factories where they are the most numerous class of workers. It was stated at the Holborn meeting by Miss Gertrude Ruckwell, who was in the chair, that there are now 80,000 women in trade societies in England.

Human Oddities.

Did you ever notice that the eyes of two people out of every five you meet are out of line? It has been demonstrated also that the right eye is stronger in every seven out of 10 cases. The right eye is usually placed a little higher than the left and only one person in 15 has perfect eyes. The largest percentage of defects prevails among fair-haired people.

The smallest vibration of sound can be distinguished by the right ear, but not with the left.

The nails of two fingers never grow with the same rapidity—that of the middle finger always outstrips the others, and the thumbnails grows the slowest of all.

In 54 cases out of every 100 the left leg is shorter than the right.

Red Cross Gives to Relief Fund.

The Red Cross emergency committee of Pittsburgh yesterday voted to turn over the entire amount of money in its treasury to the California relief fund. The treasurer, Mrs. George W. McKee, was instructed to send a check for that amount, $1,069 63, to John B. Jackson, treasurer of the Pittsburgh relief fund, who is to send it on to the Pennsylvania branch of the National Red Cross society to be forwarded to California for general relief work. This sum includes the remainder of the money contributed during the Spanish-American war and later for the Butler epidemic, which has been in the treasury since the close of the work in Butler, two years ago, and amounting to $894 63; also, $150 sent in yesterday to the Red Cross committee by Calvary Protestant Episcopal church and $35 received from the Mt. Washington auxiliary.

With the turning over of this money the committee, which was but a temporary organization created first during the Spanish war and continued over the Butler typhoid fever epidemic, went out of existence. Mrs. J. L. Anderson presided. The women took immediate steps for the organization of a permanent branch of the National Red Cross society here, requesting Mrs. Anderson to take charge of it. She will communicate with the officials of the national society in Washington, D. C., and ask them to send some one to Pittsburgh to take charge of the work of organizing a branch here. A public meeting will then be called to arrange for this movement in co-operation with the Red Cross work throughout the country.

Transportation to the Biennial.

Arrangements for the transportation of the Pennsylvania club women to St. Paul for the eighth biennial meeting of the General Federation of Women's clubs, are about completed. The plan is to go to Chicago by the Pennsylvania railroad, in two special Pullman cars, and from there in parlor cars over the Chicago & Northwestern to St. Paul. The Eastern Pennsylvania delegation will leave Philadelphia Monday morning, May 28, the Western Pennsylvania party joining it in Pittsburgh and leaving this city at 5 o'clock in the evening.

The Pennsylvania headquarters in St. Paul will be at the Hotel Ryan, which is also to be the headquarters for the executive board of the General Federation. The rates are from $2 a day for four or six in a room, up to $4 or $5 for two in a room.

Club women who are neither delegates nor alternates, and who desire to attend the biennial should notify Miss Kate C. McKnight at once, as tickets must be obtained admitting them to the convention hall.

Wilkinsburg Club in New Home.

The Wilkinsburg Woman's club met yesterday afternoon in its new quarters in the Pennwood club house which had its housewarming last week. Last evening Rabbi J. Leonard Levy, D. D., lectured before the club women in the same place, his subject being "Observations." Miss Clara McLain sang a couple of songs including "The Throstle" by Maude White, and Grieg's "Sunshine Song."

At the afternoon meeting of the club Mrs. F. N. Jones was leader. The regular program was followed by a short parliamentary drill conducted by Mrs. R. C. Wylie. Mrs. J. A. Spence's paper on "The Rhine" was read by Mrs. D. P. Thomas. Mrs. J. Q. A. Wigeley gave an informal talk on Schiller's "Words of Faith" and the music consisted of a piano solo by Miss Hazel Peck. The annual meeting of the club will be held May 8.

For Children's Hospital.

The stories which Mrs. Martha S. Gielow told of the "ol' black mammy" of plantation days and of the bright little pickaninnies rolling in the sunshine before the cabin door, and the songs she sang were especially interesting in view of the fact that her entertainments yesterday were given for the benefit of the little sufferers in the Pittsburgh Hospital for Children. Mrs. Gielow appeared during the afternoon and evening in Miss Stuart's school in Fifth avenue, her afternoon program being especially arranged to please the children. Many of the stories were original.

THE GAZETTE PATTERN.

(No. 5508.) Girls' Dress.

A deep bertha collar adds distinction to the little dress, shown here in pale blue cashmere, trimmed with insertion and edging of white lace. The waist is laid in fine tucks, and blouses prettily all around. The straight gathered skirt is attached to the waist and a pretty sash of Dresden ribbon adds to the dressy effect to the mode. Plaids and checks alone, or in combination with plain material, are suggested for carrying out the design. The medium size will require 3¼ yards of 44-inch material.

Girl's dress No. 5508. Sizes for 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 and 12 years.

Finance Committee Votes for Radical Reforms in the Delinquent Tax Office.

ADVANCES AS PARTY MEASURE

The office of delinquent tax collector is to be abolished by adding the duties of collector to those of the city treasurer and the penalty on delinquent taxes increased from 5 to 10 per cent. A cumulative system is to be established, whereby the penalty is to increase the longer the taxes remain unpaid. A minimum penalty of 5 per cent is to be fixed and an additional penalty of one-half per cent levied for each month the taxes are delinquent, until the penalty reaches 10 per cent.

A sub-committee of the finance committee was appointed yesterday to embody these features in a revised ordinance to be introduced in councils next Monday. The ordinance will also contain a clause for the employment of five additional clerks in the city treasurer's office to collect the delinquent taxes.

The ordinance abolishing the office of delinquent tax collector, which did not contain the accumulative penalty feature of a provision for the employment of additional clerks, was referred to the sub-committee appointed by Chairman J. C. Wasson. The sub-committee consists of Dr. R. E. Walters, W. A. Martin and P. A. Manion.

Wasson Says It is Party Measure.

Dr. Walters made the motion to refer the ordinance to a sub-committee of three for the purpose of redrafting it for presentation to councils. Manion is opposed to the office of delinquent tax collector being abolished, and amended Walters' motion by moving to send the ordinance to councils with a negative recommendation. Walters contended Manion's amendment destroyed the effect of his motion and was out of order. Chairman Wasson so ruled and Walters' motion was adopted, six members voting in the affirmative and Messrs. Manion and McGarey in the negative.

Chairman Wasson spoke in favor of abolishing the office and establishing the cumulative penalty system which, he said, had been agreed upon at a conference of the two presidents of councils and himself. He said the ordinance was a strict party measure and the Republicans stood committed to it in the party platforms for three or four years. He spoke as a Republican member of councils and said it was the duty of the Republican members of the committee to stand by the ordinance. He argued in favor of increasing the penalty, stating that under the present system the delinquent was assessed only 5 per cent on his taxes, and the penalty remained the same if he did not pay his taxes for 18 months or two years. He said members of the finance committee had made an appointment to consult the mayor on the matter for Saturday morning at 11 o'clock, but that when that hour arrived the mayor was otherwise engaged.

Manion Opposes Ordinance.

Manion opposed the ordinance, stating the last councils had reduced the collector's fees. "I think everybody is mistaken when they think there is a big, fat fee in that office," said Manion.

The resolution authorizing the finance committee to negotiate for the purchase of the plant of the Monongahela Water Company was laid over on motion of W. A. Martin. Chairman Wasson said councils should first adopt a joint resolution instructing the finance committee and the city solicitor how to act.

The resolution transferring $4,270 from the appropriation of 1905 for parks to the appropriation of 1904 for the improvement of the Schenley park oval was laid over at the suggestion of Director Clark, who said he would furnish more information. He said $15,000 had been first spent on the oval and that $22,000 was being asked this year for a new grand stand.

Ordinances authorizing the employment of additional engineers and assistants in the water bureau, and additional employes in the construction bureau for the new asphalt plant were approved.

Chairman Wasson announced the appointments of two sub-committees as follows: Rebates and assessments, Chairman Hirsch, Metcalf, McGarey; salaries, Chairman Hartin, Gulland and Manion.

CZAR IS PERSUADED TO APPEAR AT PARLIAMENT

Will Set Aside His Fears and Personally Will Greet Representatives of People.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, April 24.—After much hesitation Emperor Nicholas has decided to come to St. Petersburg, greet the representatives of the people and personally open the first Russian parliament May 10.

His decision comes as a surprise, as it was supposed that after his long absence from the capitol he would not dare to leave the shelter or the palace of Tsarskoe-Selo. But Premier Witte and other advisers urged that it would be a great blunder to miss such an opportunity.

Imperial heralds will pass through the streets summoning the representatives of the people and imposing military escort will accompany the emperor to the Taurride palace, where parliament will assemble. It is rumored the emperor in greeting parliament will announce general amnesty for political prisoners and the abolition of martial law.

The final draft of the "Fundamental law" was published today. It consists of 70 articles and constitutes Russia's so-called "constitution." The main point gained by the people in their fight against the crown is the incorporation in the "fundamental law" of the provisions of the imperial manifesto of October 20, creating a parliament and thus making it impossible for the emperor hereafter without usurpation to withdraw what he has granted.

STOCK MARKET RECOVERED AFTER SEVERE LIQUIDATION

The Outlook for Money Now the Dominating Factor—Steel Report Up to Expectations—The Local Market Dull and Heavy.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The New York stock market yesterday underwent another period of severe liquidation, accompanied by bearish pressure, which lasted during the first two hours. Later there was a substantial recovery, led by Amalgamated Copper, U. S. Steel and Union Pacific, which were well supported. In the final hour there was a renewal of bearish pressure and a portion of the gains was wiped out. The market closed irregular, with comparatively small net changes, but there were as many gains as losses. The sales for the day foot up 1,254,000 shares.

Discussion of the San Francisco catastrophe has now given place in Wall street to discussion of the future of the money market, and the weight of opinion leans to higher rates. The disapointing thing in connection with yesterday's stock market rally was the firmness of time loans, there being no offerings under 6 per cent, while call loan rates ranged between 3 and 5 per cent and averaged about 4 per cent.

There were heavy shipments of currency and transfers of gold to San Francisco, the known movement amounting to more than $2,500,000, making more than $10,000,000 since this day last week. In addition to this Chicago and other western points are believed to have made considerable shipments. It is thought that San Francisco banks are fortifying themselves against the day when they resume business, which will be within the next two or three weeks. When they open their doors there will be in the very nature of things large withdrawals of deposits, and every effort is apparently being made to avert anything like a financial panic growing out of the disaster.

These shipments of currency are occurring at a time when the New York money rates are about double those quoted at the corresponding time last year, and while additional engagements of gold were announced yesterday, the arrivals will be absorbed by borrowings from account of the insurance companies which will be compelled to make heavy payments on account of the property destroyed in San Francisco.

The report that a large banking pool was being arranged in New York for the purpose of loaning money to the insurance companies and thereby avert the necessity for liquidation of investment securities was denied yesterday, but it was reported with some circumstantial detail that the banks of Hartford, Conn., had made a proposition to advance $5,000,000 to the Connecticut fire insurance companies on a pledge of their securities. The question with the fire insurance companies is whether it would be better to sell securities which at current prices yield 3½ to 4 per cent, or pledge these securities in loans which may cost from 5 to 6 per cent. An off-hand opinion would be that it would be better to convert the securities into cash and take the chances of replacing them on equally favorably terms a year or two hence, as the recuperation of investment funds will permit. But to attempt the liquidation of any considerable amount of investment securities in the present market would doubtless cause disturbance that would be felt outside Wall street, and this the bankers are interested in preventing. The problem is a very interesting one.

The quarterly report of the United States Steel corporation fulfilled expectations, inasmuch as it showed the largest net earnings for any corresponding quarter in the history of the corporation. The management, however again pursued a very conservative policy in the matter of making appropriations out of earnings for new properties, special improvements, etc., so that the final surplus of $5,567,000 is only about one per cent on the common stock for the quarter.

Contradictory reports were received from London as to the success of the Russian loan subscriptions, and the quotation of a slight premium on the new bonds in the open market was not regarded as conclusive.

While the mining stocks continued to lead the local market in point of activity, they were less prominent than for some time past. Cable Consolidated rallied to 69c, while Ohio Tonopah and Tonopah Extension closed unchanged. The weakest stock on the list was Pittsburgh Oil and Gas, which after selling in a small way at 38 to 40, was offered down to 33½ and closed with 30 bid. The weakness was due, of course, to the suspension of the dividend and the placing of $1,200,000 bonds ahead of the stock, which action was taken at the meeting on Monday. Manufacturers Light and Heat was active, nearly 1,600 shares changing hands at 30¾ to 30. Ohio Fuel was also fractionally lower at 35½. Pittsburgh Coal common sold at 14, a decline of one per cent, and the preferred at 56⅞, to 56⅞, a decline of one-fourth. Crucible Steel common declined to 14, while the preferred advanced to 79¾. U. S. Steel common closed three-quarters higher and the preferred three-quarters lower. Pittsburgh Brewing common was in fair demand and firmer, closing at 29⅜. Independent Brewing preferred rallied to 42¼. National Fire Proofing stocks were dull and heavy. Westinghouse Air Brake was unchanged at 150, but Electric closed a fraction lower at 80. Philadelphia Company common sold at 50¾, an advance of seven-eighths over the last previous sale. The remainder of the market was without important change.

ALL GRADES OF SUGAR DECLINE UNEXPECTEDLY

Drop of 10 Cents a Hundred in Pittsburgh—Butter and Cheese Lower.

Sugars, which went up a month ago, since showing strength, took a turn downward yesterday, and a decrease of 10 cents a hundred was quoted by the Pittsburgh merchants. The change effected all qualities and all brands. Sugar is now worth $4 70 in bulk, and $4 85 in cartons. There is no reason ascribed for the change, and everybody was expecting sugars would advance rather than decline.

Butter is a little weaker. Nearly every variety is quoted at a half-cent a pound lower than a week ago, but the demand is still good, and it will not go much lower during the summer months. Eggs are still strong, notwithstanding thousands of cases are arriving by boat and train. They are worth 17 and 18 cents, at which figure they probably will remain, as no eggs are being shipped from the west, where eggs are now stored for the winter months.

Produce showed no change yesterday. Good arrivals of strawberries are still noted, but the demand is also good, and already some are being bought for canning and preserving.

Cheese is very weak. Prices quoted yesterday show a decline of 1 to 2 cents a pound, and this affects nearly every kind of cheese except imported brands, which are about uniform during the entire year.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts bulletined yesterday were: Pennsylvania, 28 cars hay, 2 cars oats, 4½ cars corn, 3 cars feed, 1 car straw, 1 car rye. Baltimore & Ohio, 18 cars hay and 2 cars oats. Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 13 cars hay, 2 cars oats.

Receipts were better yesterday than for many days past. Hay came in in large quantities, and the market is some weaker, but no changes were noticeable. It is believed the hay situation is relieved for the present, or until the new crop starts to arrive.

REPORTS ON WEATHER STRENGTHEN MARKET

Advance of Over One Cent a Bushel Is Made in Price of Wheat at Chicago.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, April 24.—Reports of damage to the crop by dry weather in the southwest caused an advance today of over 1c a bushel in the price of wheat here. At the close the July option was precisely 1c above yesterday's quotations. July corn and oats were each up ⅝c. Provisions were a shade higher to 7½c lower.

Strength in wheat developed toward the middle of the session. Prior to that time trading was of a dragging character and the tone of the market was easy. The early weakness was due to lower cables, a decline in Paris, 25 francs, and to cash wheat and favorable weather for seeding in the northwest. One of the principal reasons for the sharp upturn was found in reports from the winter wheat sections, where, it is claimed, the crop is being damaged by high winds and dry weather. Another influential factor was the statement of the world's visible supply of breadstuffs, as shown by Bradstreet's.

According to this authority the world's stocks have decreased 4,534,000 bushels, and of this amount, it was claimed, the American stocks decreased nearly 3,500,000 bushels. These bullish advices started active buying by shorts. The greatest demand was for the distant deliveries. As offerings were rather light, prices advanced rapidly. The market continued active and strong the remainder of the day. At the close prices were only a trifle below the highest point of the day.

July opened a shade to ⅛@⅜c lower, at 78⅝@78½c, advanced to 79¾@79¾c, and closed 79¾@79¾c. May ranged between 78½@80c, and closed at a gain of 1½c, at 79¾c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 169,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 331,000 bushels, compared with 290,000 bushels the corresponding day a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 245 cars, against 222 cars last week, and 311 cars a year ago.

Notwithstanding liberal local receipts the corn market was steady the greater part of the day. An official forecast of wet weather tomorrow was the main steadying influence. The volume of trading was small and a large percentage of the business consisted of changing from May to July option. The market closed steady. July opened unchanged at 45¾c, advanced to 46⅝c and closed at 46¼c. May sold between 46⅜@46¾c and 47¼@47½c and closed at 47¼c. Local receipts were 226 cars, with 52 of contract grade.

Prediction of rain tomorrow induced moderate buying of oats today and caused a firm tone in the market for that grain. A leading bull was the principal purchaser, July opened unchanged at 29⅝c, sold between 30½@30¾c, and 30¾@⅞c and closed at 30¾c. May ranged between 31@31c and 31½@⅝c and closed at 32¼c. Local receipts were 245 cars.

Provisions were inclined to weakness the greater part of the day, because of liquidation by local holders. Late in the session a firmer tone developed, and the market recovered the greater part of an early decline. At the close July pork was off 5@7½c at $15 62½@15 85. Lard was up a shade at $8 60@8 62½. Ribs were 2½@5c lower, at $8 55.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 1 car; corn, 80 cars; oats, 70 cars; hogs, 20,000 head.

NEW YORK, April 24.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at unchanged prices to a decline of five points in response to lower French cables and rather full primary receipts. The market was finally steady at a net decline of 5 points. The Wool Market.

BOSTON, April 24.—Business is limited in the wool market, foreign wools forming the bulk of the trade on account of the inadequate domestic supply.

Manufacturers are closely watching the Boston situation where prices are strong. In the fleece wool sections a feeling of optimism prevails and farmers anticipate higher prices. Fleeces are unusually dull. Ohio and Pennsylvania quarter blood has passed slightly at 24½@25c, and some unwashed at 25½@26c. Other grades are firm. Fine unwashed Michigan sells in a small way at 24@24½c, with a little quarter blood stock at 31@31½c.

The Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, April 24.—A normal demand for domestic goods combined with the possible delay in deliveries from mills on account of growing scarcity of labor, added firmness to the drygoods market today. The export demand was very light. Printed goods sold better and cotton yarns were scarce and firm, spinners holding for higher prices.

LOWER SOUTHWEST FIELDS PRODUCE ONLY SMALL WELLS

The average size of the late completions in the lower southwest fields is light. In only one district fairly good producers are coming in, and they are much smaller than the first completed in that district. The new Keaner sand pool in Tyler county is furnishing the best producers. The Southern Oil Company has completed and shot its No. 4 on the R. A. Workman farm, and it is producing 150 barrels a day. The present combined production of Nos. 1, 2 and 4 is 600 barrels a day.

In the Burning Springs district, Wirt county, Hickman & Whan have completed No. 28 on the A. R. Morrow farm, and have a producer good for 20 barrels a day. On Silver run, Grant district, Ritchie county, the States Oil Company has drilled its test, a wildcat, on the John Hill farm through the salt sand and has a duster.

In a number of districts on the Ohio side there is a marked increase in operations. The late completions, however, are not of the kind to cause any rush of new work in the old defined districts. In the Wolf creek district in Washington county, Cody & Company have completed their No. 3 on the W. W. Gadd farm, and have a much better producer than the average in the shallow sand territory. The first 24 hours after the well was drilled through the sand it produced 50 barrels. On a part of the same farm Guss, Curran & Company drilled their No. 10 through the same formation and have a show for a fair producer.

In the Woodsfield district, Monroe county, the Pure Oil Company has completed and shot its No. 2 on the Jacob Kindleberger farm, and has a 25-barrel producer in the Berea grit. In the same district, the Cater Oil Company has drilled its No. 1 on the L. F. Reasbeck farm through the same formation, and will have better than a five-barrel pumper. The Pure Oil Company has drilled its No. 8 on the L. B. Christman farm through the Berea grit, and has a show for a 15 or 20-barrel producer. In the Joy district, Morgan county, the Knickerbocker Producing Company has drilled its No. 15 on the J. A. Lovell farm through the shallow sand and has a duster. In the Plum run district, Harrison county, Davis & Dawson have completed a second test on the E. K. Price farm, and have a very light pumper in the Berea grit.

Near Jerusalem, Monroe county, and across the line in Belmont county, there is quite a little new work of the experimental kind, starting. Dry holes figured to considerable extent in this district. During the month eight wells were completed and five fell to the duster list. The three producers had at the start an aggregate production of 28 barrels.

Near Somerville, Wayne township, Noble county, the Ohio Fuel Supply Company has drilled its test on the Daniel Harris farm through the Berea grit and has a duster. In the same locality, the same company completed recently two good producers on the Sechrist farm.

Near Georgetown, Beaver county, Thomas C. Dawson & Co. have completed and shot a second test on the Laughlin Elliott farm, and have a show for a very light pumper.

RIVER FALLING SLOWLY.

Contract Are Let for the Completion of Work on Ohio Dams.

There are still no signs of a higher stage of water, and no coal is being moved. The river is falling slowly, yesterday showing a decline of one-tenth of a foot. The stage is now but four feet, and some of the packets will have to go out of commission if the river does not rise in the next few days.

Contracts to the amount of $83,470 have been let through the United States engineer's office. They are for completing the work started on the dams in the upper Ohio river. The contract for lock-keepers' houses at Glen Osborne and Legionville was let to Joseph Moscarelli of Beaver for $5,538 for each house. The Westinghouse Machine Company got the contract for the gas engines to operate the pumps at dams No. 2, 3, 4 and 6. The contract price was $29,384. GREAT ADVANCE FOR P. & L. E.

Intersuburban Service, Connellsville to Beaver Falls, and New Flyer in Timecard.

R. & D. LINE GETS NEW NAME

Intersuburban service between Connellsville and Beaver Falls, a new Cleveland flyer, additional trains between Pittsburgh and McKeesport, and other changes of more or less importance, are features of the new passenger train schedule of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie. This new time card will become effective next Sunday at 11:55 p. m. At the same time the Erie railroad will place in effect its spring schedule.

Three hours and fifteen minutes will be the schedule of this new Cleveland flyer, leaving Cleveland at 1:30 o'clock p. m. and reaching Pittsburgh at 4:45. Entirely new equipment, including high-back seats in vestibuled day coaches, has been provided; orders have been placed for observation parlor cars. New locomotives, capable of maintaining high-speed service, are in readiness for this train.

It has been arranged to run intersuburban trains between Connellsville and Beaver Falls through Pittsburgh, thus providing, in addition to through coach service from one division to another, added train accommodations between the thickly settled Beaver valley and Pittsburgh. Two trains, north and south, will be run on this schedule, one passing through Pittsburgh from Connellsville at 9 a. m., and the other passing through this city at 4:15 p. m., city time. Change of cars has always been necessary, both at McKeesport and Pittsburgh, but this will be avoided in the new arrangement.

Although New Castle has now the service of 26 trains a day, there are benefits for it in the new timecard. The afternoon train, leaving Pittsburgh at 3:30 o'clock city time, will carry a through New Castle coach, to return on the train leaving New Castle at 8:30 p. m. Pittsburgh time, the running time of the latter train being reduced 15 minutes. A solid through train will leave New Castle at 4:35 p. m., reaching Pittsburgh at 6:10 p. m.

Monongahela valley towns will be benefited by new Sunday trains. The train leaving Brownsville at 10:30 a. m., will run daily, and a late train will leave Pittsburgh at 11:30 p. m., allowing a full day in Pittsburgh. Running time of almost all local trains on the Monongahela division will be shortened. Eight weekday and six Sunday trains will be operated between McKeesport and Pittsburgh, being an addition of two trains in each direction.

Five new passenger locomotives are to be placed in commission by the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie. These machines are of the Atlantic type and are larger than any engines now used on the Lake Erie. Tests have been made which indicate that these engines will haul the heavy summer travel trains and also will fly along with the Buffalo limited on its six-hour run between Pittsburgh and Buffalo.

Western Allegheny into New Castle.

Through an arrangement between the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh and the Western Allegheny railroads, the latter will secure an excellent entrance into New Castle. At the same time the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh will profit by a traffic arrangement. A formal court order has been asked empowering the construction of a connecting link 5,000 feet long between the properties of these roads. The Western Allegheny road is constructed only about half way from Queen Junction to New Castle, but it is expected the entire line will be completed before summer ends. The Western Allegheny is operated by the Bessemer & Lake Erie.

Railroad Notes.

Superintendent Duer and his staff officers will spend today and tomorrow inspecting the Pittsburgh division and branches of the Baltimore & Ohio north of Pittsburgh. This is in preparation for the president's spring inspection within the next few days.

General Agent D. G. Black of the Great Northern left for his headquarters at Minneapolis yesterday morning with Mrs. Black, after they had spent several days visiting Pittsburgh friends.

PROVIDES FOR NEPHEW'S FUTURE

Lemuel Bannister Also Leaves Large Estate in Trust for His Widow.

COURT REFUSES DIVORCES

The Safe Deposit and Trust Company of Pittsburgh has filed the will of Lemuel Bannister, late of this city, who represented the Westinghouse interests in Paris, but who died in New York suddenly. The estate is estimated at $500,000. He leaves to his widow his personal and household effects and $50,000 worth of such stocks as may be agreed on between her and the executors, or $50,000 in cash. The residue is left in trust to the Safe Deposit and Trust Company, the net income to be paid to his widow, she to pay for the education of his nephew, Lemuel Bannister, Jr., at Harvard or some other good American university. It is provided also that she pay the nephew's reasonable expenses for a course in law, medicine or other profession he shall elect, subject to her approval, and aid him until he is self-supporting.

By the will of the late Henry J. Lynch of this city, an estate of over $100,000 is disposed of. Six thousand dollars is left to St. Luke's church in Pearl street, to apply to a mortgage, and $4,000 to a trust fund, the interest to go to the pastor's salary; $2,000 is given the Church Home association; $2,000 to St. Mary's Memorial hospital to endow a bed in his name; $10,000 in trust for his son, William P., the same amount absolutely to his son Henry F.; $40,000 in trust for his daughter, Mary Avis Rommell, and at her death half to be given to the children of Orren W. Lynch and the other half to his son-in-law, Henry Rommel; $50,000 to Orren W. Lynch; $5,000 to John P. Escher, $1,000 to Mrs. William Reitzmiller, and $1,000 to Robert Lynch. By a codicil Henry F. Lynch is given $5,000, and his daughter, Mary Avis Rommel, may dispose of the $20,000 decreed to the children of Orren W. Lynch by will, but if she leaves no will, that amount goes to those children. The residue of the estate is divided among William P., Henry F. and Orren W. Lynch and Mary Avis Rommel.

Opinions refusing two divorce decrees handed down by Judge Macfarlane in the case of Bessie R. Caulkett against George W. Caulkett, in which desertion was charged, the finding of the court is that there was no willful or malicious desertion on the part of the respondent, and that efforts at reconciliation had been made by him.

In the case of Mary E. Miller against Howard S. Miller, in which indignities were alleged, the court refuses the decree on the grounds that the charges are not sustained by the evidence.

The following divorce decrees were granted: Frank Burkhart against Elizabeth Burkhart; Louisa F. H. Dahlinger against Henry Dahlinger; Cora B. White against Charles B. White; Frank E. Sherrill against Emma C. Sherrill, Susie M. Crews against Raleigh Crews; Samuel Meyer against Grace D. Meyer, all alleging desertion; William S. Barksdale against Lenora Barksedale; Concordia Damico against Labatino Damico, both alleging infidelity.

The commissioner's report in the divorce case of Mrs. Minnie M. Lattin against George T. Lattin shows that the couple were married in November, 1901, and lived together 33 days, when Lattin deserted his wife, and she has not seen him since.

The trial of C. J. Griffith, who is charged by George N. Hughes with having committed a misdemeanor in obtaining a promissory note for $10,000 from the Sharpsburg Sand Company by misrepresentation, occupied the entire day in criminal court.

Superior court adjourned yesterday until May 7, when arguments will be resumed. Yesterday a list of seven cases was argued.

A motion for a preliminary injunction was renewed by the complainant in the case of the Schmertz Wire Glass Company against the Continuous Pressed Glass Company, yesterday, in the United States circuit court. The complainant alleges infringement by the defendant, of a process for making wire glass.

RARE MUSICAL TREAT PROMISED NEW YORK

Toronto Choir and Pittsburgh Orchestra Unite for Two Concerts Next Season.

An important musical announcement was made yesterday. By joint arrangement between those two noted organizations, the Mendelssohn choir of Toronto, Canada, of over 400 mixed voices, A. S. Vogt, conductor, and the Pittsburgh orchestra, Emil Paur, conductor, will unite in giving two concerts in Carnegie hall, New York, on the evenings of Tuesday and Wednesday, February 12 and 13, 1907.

The board of directors and Conductor Vogt of the Toronto choir have for some weeks been considering the suggestion of the Pittsburgh orchestra management to give in New York such programs as the two organizations have for six seasons prepared jointly for Toronto, and during two seasons for Buffalo. Last week, after communicating with every active member of the choir and finding them practically unanimous regarding the proposition, the arrangement for the two New York concerts was consummated. On February 11 the two organizations will unite at Buffalo for one concert and then journey immediately to New York.

It is four years since the Pittsburgh orchestra has been heard in New York and never under Emil Paur. Mr. Paur has now served two of his contract three years in Pittsburgh, and it is known that he is more artistically happy in his Pittsburgh position than ever before.

The Mantell Engagement.

Seats for the engagement next week of Robert Mantell will be placed on sale in the Nixon theater at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. Mail order reservations already made will then be delivered. Miss Lillian Kingsbury, who was so popular in Mr. Mantell's support during his long engagement here last year, has been obtained for next week and will be in the cast of all six plays. They are "King Lear," "Macbeth," "Richlieu," "Hamlet," "Othello" and "King Richard III."
